Coup to Place Anderson in Charge of the State Affairs of Department.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—"We set the trap and they jumped right into it."

This statement by John A. Aylward, attorney for Herman L. Ekern, last night revealed the preparedness of insurance of Wisconsin when Aylward and a deputy sheriff rushed in upon Governor McGovern's police aides yesterday afternoon and served injunction papers restraining the latter from ejecting the commissioner. The papers had been prepared two weeks before. The capital police officers were taken by surprise, not having figured on such rapid work by the commissioner.

Hearing on Saturday. Governor McGovern, Superintendent of Public Property W. L. Esmann and Lewis A. Anderson were ordered to show cause at 5 o'clock before Judge E. Ray Stevens, Dane county circuit court, why a restraining order should not be granted for a permanent injunction. By stipulation, the hearing was postponed until 9 o'clock Saturday. The restraining order remains in full effect until that time. Anderson was represented at the hearing by Attorney Harry L. Butler.

The order issued by Judge Stevens is only temporary. The next move must be on the part of the governor. Next Saturday he will probably ask the court for a writ of certiorari on behalf of Anderson. Thus puts the burden of proof upon the governor and his appointee. Unless this move is made, Attorney Aylward will ask to make the restraining order permanent. If the matter comes upon certiorari proceedings, the entire case will be gone into on its merits.

Reviews Governor's Records. The complaint upon which the court based its action covers a dozen typewritten pages giving a complete history of the case. A copy of the complaint of Executive Clerk Harry C. Wilbur charging Ekern with misconduct in office, a stenographic report of the proceedings before the governor on Jan. 8, together with the formal order of the governor for the removal of Ekern from office were made a part of the injunction papers.

Party Disloyalty Charged. "That the said Francis E. McGovern is now and for a long time preceding Jan. 8, 1912, was and had been desirous of entrenching himself in the political control of the state of Wisconsin," says the application for the restraining order. "That the said Francis E. McGovern was formerly associated with, and was elected governor of the state of Wisconsin, as a member of the Republican party in said state, but as plaintiff is informed and believes he has not been the manager of any political campaign."

"That the said Francis E. McGovern is now and for a long time preceding Jan. 8, 1912, was and had been desirous of entrenching himself in the political control of the state of Wisconsin," says the application for the restraining order. "That the said Francis E. McGovern was formerly associated with, and was elected governor of the state of Wisconsin, as a member of the Republican party in said state, but as plaintiff is informed and believes he has not been the manager of any political campaign."

The complaint charges that the attempt to remove Ekern is calculated to strengthen the hold of the Roosevelt party in Wisconsin. The application then details the history of the renting of rooms at the Avenue hotel for the L. L. Johnson speakership candidacy, and of the opposition to Johnson by Governor McGovern. It is cited that Ekern is actively engaged in conducting the affairs of the department, and since the attempt to break into the office occurred, it develops that at the time the demand for the office was made, Ekern was licensing a new insurance company.

Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Superintendent Esmann and L. A. Anderson appeared in the insurance department.

"I demand possession of this office upon order of Governor McGovern," came from the superintendent.

Summons Policemen.

Ekern did not respond, but sat quietly in his chair. Present in the room also were Deputy Commissioner George E. Beedle, L. L. Johnson, chairman of the insurance committee in the assembly, and August Haden of Ogema, who had come to consult Ekern on insurance bills. Upon Ekern's refusal to surrender, Esmann left to summon capital policemen. Four blue-coats and Assistant Superintendent A. W. Meyer responded to the call. When they came they found the door to Ekern's office locked and a desk

SUING FOR MILLION
AS SHARE OF ESTATE*Detroit Woman Sues Heirs of Henry Stephens, Jr., for Share of Mining and Timber Property.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Detroit, Jan. 22.—Over 4,500 acres of timber and mineral lands in Lake and St. Louis counties, Minnesota, are in litigation today in the Stephens Iron Land Case, which has been brought into district court by Mrs. Clarinda Stephens, widow of Henry Stephens, a former wealthy Detroit, Mich., man. She is suing the heirs of her son, Henry Stephens, Jr., claiming that she was defrauded out of her share of a one-third interest in the Minnesota holdings of the Stephens estate valued at three million dollars. She also asks that certain lands she gave her son who died April 10, 1911, be set aside. The other iron mining company and others are made defendants. The plaintiff declares her son secured deeds to the property in question through false representations by stating the land was forested, and not worth more than $100,000.

COLONEL ON STAND
IN STEEL INQUIRY*Tennessee Coal and Iron Company
Story Again Promises to Be Dragged into Limelight.

New York, Jan. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt and William Ellor Corey, former president of the United States Steel Corporation, were witnesses today called to testify at the resumption of the government's hearing looking to the dissolution of the so-called steel trust. Mr. Roosevelt consented to be examined in his editorial offices. Mr. Corey was summoned to appear before the commissioners in an office building down town.

The oft-repeated story of the adoption by the Steel Corporation of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company promises again to be the nucleus of the ex-president's testimony.

No matter what might have been the motive behind the United States steel corporation when it absorbed the Tennessee Coal and Iron company five years ago, Theodore Roosevelt as president would have sanctioned the deal. He so testified today at a resumption of the hearing in the government suit to dissolve the so-called steel trust, "not one thing could have been known about the company which could have altered my action," he said emphatically. "I was dealing with a panic."

TUSKEGEE NEGRO CONFERENCE
DISCUSSES RACE PROBLEMS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tuskegee, Ala., Jan. 22.—A large and representative attendance marked the opening here today of the twenty-second annual Tuskegee Negro Conference. Today's program was given over to the negro farmers. The problem of agricultural credit was the leading subject of discussion. Tomorrow's session will be devoted to the consideration of the negro schools, their work and plans for their betterment.

WOULD REQUIRE ONE YEAR RESIDENCE FOR DIVORCES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—A bill to change the number of years residence in the state before a divorce can be granted from two to one year was presented to the assembly by request today by Assemblyman Dell H. Richards of Ladysmith.

REAL ESTATE BROKERS
MEET IN RACINE IN 1914

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Green Bay, Jan. 22.—During this morning's meeting of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers it was decided to meet next year in Racine. A committee was appointed in connection with a bill in the legislature which provides for licensing all real estate brokers. The convention adjourned at noon.

CARAVAN OF MOHAMMEDAN PIGRIMS ARE DROWNED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Suakin, Egypt, Jan. 22.—Mohammedan pilgrims from India to Mecca, were drowned today by a flood which overwhelmed the entire caravan at its encampment midway between the sacred city of Medina, Arabia, and the port of Yembo, on the Red Sea. A sudden avalanche accompanied great torrents of waters swept down the mountain near the camp carrying away people, animals and tents. Only 50 of the 400 pilgrims were saved.

WESTERN UNION'S SUIT SETTLED BY STIPULATION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Jan. 22.—The suit of the Western Union Telegraph company to recover approximately $125,000 in taxes paid by the state of Wisconsin, was settled by stipulation today according to Deputy Attorney General Russell Jackson.

NAB FOUR MINERS CHARGED WITH STEALING GOLD DUST

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Jan. 22.—As they stepped off a western train at the Pennsylvania station today four miners were arrested on a charge of stealing gold dust and nuggets worth more than $50,000 from mines at Leadville, Colo. Detectives who made the arrest said they found the nuggets and dust strapped around the men in money

WOULD INVESTIGATE
CATTLE TEST METHOD*Former State Veterinarian Hartwig
Adds His Voice to Controversy Over Tuberculin Test.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—A. H. Hartwig of Watertown, former state veterinarian, has mailed a communication to every member of the legislature asking an investigation of the methods of testing cattle with tuberculin in Wisconsin. Dr. Hartwig claims that the practice of allowing laymen to administer the test has "proven to be a failure, for which there can be offered no other excuse than to gain political influence."

In support of his contention, he quotes a resolution adopted recently at the annual meeting of the United States Live Stock Sanitary Association censuring to a certain degree the Live Stock Sanitary Board of Wisconsin. Dr. Hartwig demands a legislative investigation of the subject. Evidently Charles H. Everett of Racine, a member of the assembly and the editor of the Wisconsin Agriculturalist, does not agree with Dr. Hartwig.

"The entire action of the United States Live Stock Sanitary Association is one of spite and behind it is plainly to be seen a desire to injure and to belittle the work of the Wisconsin Live Stock Sanitary Board," declares the editorial in Assemblyman Everett's paper. "The reasons for this animosity are well understood by members of the Wisconsin board. They are ignored, however, because they are not worthy of notice, and will have no weight or influence with any thinking farmer who understands conditions as they exist."

OFFERS A SOLUTION
OF EKERN SITUATION*Assemblyman Hansen Introduces Bill
To Return to Old Method of Electing Insurance Commissioner.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Jan. 22.—Assemblyman Carl Hansen introduced a bill to return to the old method of electing an insurance commissioner. It provides that the commissioner shall be chosen at the general election in 1914 and biennially thereafter. "This ought to settle the whole business," says Hansen, referring to the Ekern case.

"Third degree" treatment of prisoners to exact confessions is made punishable by jail imprisonment of from three months to one year and lack of office by the terms of a bill offered by Senator Zophy, socialist. Another socialist measure provides that wages earned by prisoners be paid to their dependants.

A measure similar to the Oregon primary plan for the election of United States senators was offered by Assemblyman Kneen.

Another bill would increase the salary of legislators from $500 to $1,200. State ownership of railroads and government ownership of telegraph and express lines is provided for in a resolution by Senator Zophy. Madison, Jan. 22.—Gov. McGovern will make an appointment in a few days of a legislative committee of five members—two senators and three assemblymen—to visit the state charitable and penal institutions.

WOULD INCREASE CREDIT FOR LABOR ON HIGHWAYS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23.—Farmers will be allowed credit at a rate of $2 a day in working out their road taxes according to the provisions of a bill presented to the assembly this morning by Assemblyman A. D. Richardson of Iowa county. Under a law that has been in force in Wisconsin for more than a quarter of a century people who worked out their road taxes were allowed $1.50 a day.

The Richardson bill increases this amount to $2 a day and allows an additional credit of $1.50 for the use of a team and wagon. Assemblyman Richardson claims that the cost of living has risen so rapidly in recent years that it is no longer possible to hire a man for $1.50 a day and as a result many of the farmers have paid their taxes rather than work them out. "There seems to be a strong sentiment among the farmer members of the legislature for the measure."

NEW RICHMOND PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT IS BURNED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New Richmond, Wis., Jan. 22.—The plant of the Van Meter-Welch Printing Company was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The loss will exceed $10,000, and is only partially insured. The News and Republican Voice, semi-weekly papers printed in the building, will be published temporarily from the office of the Star Observer in Hudson, which is also owned by the same company.

LOS ANGELES MILLIONAIRE REFUSES ALIMONY SECURITY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—Father than execute a mortgage for $5,000 to secure the payment of $125,000 alimony to his divorced wife Owen McCann, a millionaire, will face contempt proceedings before Judge Monroe in the superior court next Monday according to his statement today, after Judge Monroe had ordered the by-the-bye.

FAVORS THE ABOLITION OF ELECTORAL COLLEGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 22.—Senator Ford, today introduced in the state senate a joint resolution asking congress to submit to the states an amendment for the election of presidents.

TAFT IS ANXIOUS TO PASS MEMORIALS FOR
MARTYRED PRESIDENT*Urges Congressmen to Aid Him in Two Million Dollar Appropriation for Potomac Park.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—President Taft conferred today with more than thirty republican members of the house, whose support he asked for the bill passed by the senate appropriating two million dollars for a memorial structure to Abraham Lincoln in Potomac park.

The president has heard reports that the house might shelve the senate bill and he expressed a fear to the congressmen today that such action would mean no memorial provided at this session of congress.

Some of the republicans present favored a memorial from Washington to the Gettysburg battlefield. An act providing for the monument to Lincoln in Washington, the president said, need not interfere with the bill for a memorial road.

Beginning his series of hearings today planned to conclude the taking of testimony by the end of this week and to begin the preparation of its report to congress.

Conferees on the immigration bill today agreed to eliminate the certificate of character clause of the bill which, it was claimed, would bar many Jew immigrants from Russia and Roumania.

The Tariff.

The Democratic plan for cutting the tariff on cotton manufacture which will be recommended to the house early in the extra session of congress brought representatives of the cotton industry to the ways and means committee hearing today. Democrat leaders held that cotton is of relation to the world's economic progress more important than that of wool, silk and flax combined, and that the American people annually pay about $200,000,000 more for cotton goods by reason of the present tariff rates. They consent that no actual loss in revenue will result from the proposed legislation which is identical with the cotton bill the democrats sought to annex in 1911 and 1912 and that it would reduce the annual cost of cotton clothing by more than eighty millions. The extra duty under the proposed revised schedule would aggregate $10,599,000 against $13,673,000 in 1910 and $12,359,032 in 1911, the latest available statistics.

Opposition to the rational monetary commission banking and currency plan was expressed to the house currency committee by Andrew J. Frame, president of the Waukesha, Wisconsin National Bank, who submitted a brief signed by twelve bankers of widely separated sections of the country. The commission's plan the brief said "spells monopoly, inflation and over expansion of credits," and instead of preventing would breed panic. As a substitute the brief proposed a central bank with limited powers or enlargement of the Aldrich-Vreeland act by extending the right to issue uniform elastic currency, not only to national, but state and savings banks and trust companies doing commercial banking. Gold as a standard for reserves and payment was declared absolutely essential to a sound system.

Senator O'Gorman replied to Roosevelt on free passage ships in the Panama canal. "We would create a painful impression abroad if this mighty nation should surrender to the control of any foreign power its domestic policies and the control of its domestic commerce. That we can never do and maintain the prestige and glory of this republic."

He continued that other nations would charge that they owned the canal. Senator Newlands also opposed New York's foreign affairs committee opposed the federal regulation of power developments at Niagara Falls.

SOUTH DAKOTA ELECTS A REPUBLICAN SENATOR

Pierre, S. Dak., Jan. 22.—Thomas Stierke, republican, was elected United States senator today by the South Dakota legislature voting on joint ballot.

IT COSTS MONEY TO GET YOUR CONFI-DENCE

Manufacturers spend millions to tell you about their products. They put their reputations, their success behind the quality of the articles they advertise. Not all manufacturers advertise. Those who do, realize that the confidence of the public is their most valuable asset. You have heard said at a time, "People have confidence in these goods." The manufacturer says, "The confidence of the people in my goods makes the 'good will' of my business worth so much."

Your confidence is good will toward the goods and the legally and actually worth money to the maker of the product. Manufacturers know that the only way to gain your confidence and retain it is by deserving it—by making the best goods that money can buy and offering them at the lowest prices for which they can be sold.

Advertising creates confidence. Newspaper advertising is the most effective in establishing confidence with the greatest number of consumers in each locality. Manufacturers who advertise in THE GAZETTE are deserving of your confidence and patronage. Therefore, it pays to read THE GAZETTE advertisements closely and constantly every day.

WILSON CONTINUES
LAW REFORM WORK*Will Call Conference of New Jersey Legislature Leaders in Regard to Corporation Laws.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Trenton, Jan. 22.—Gov. Wilson today made his second move toward obtaining reform of the corporation laws of New Jersey. Having caused the bills to be drafted and introduced in the state legislature, the governor today asked the legislative leaders to call a conference of members of both houses for next Tuesday at which he will explain his program for this session and urge particularly the passage of the corporation bill. The governor does not expect any position among the democrats who have a majority in both houses and it is hoped that the bill may be enacted before he leaves to assume the presidency.

Gov. Wilson read the report alleging that some members of the legislature intended to block the passage of the corporations bills by holding public hearings of indefinite length. "There is nothing to hold public hearings about," commented the governor. "These are perfectly businesslike bills."

RIVALS ARE BIDDERS
FOR OHIO RAILROAD*Norfolk & Western, and Pennsylvania
Believed Anxious to Purchase
Detroit, Toledo & Iron Railway.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Springfield, O., Jan. 22.—The receiver's sale of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad, which was to have taken place here today, has been postponed to February 5 by order of the Federal court. With the postponement has come a revival of the rumors that both the Pennsylvania and the Norfolk and Western roads will bid for the property when it comes under the hammer.

The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton road extends from Detroit to Iron and possesses valuable terminal rights on both the great lakes and the Ohio river. The great coal fields in the vicinity of Jackson, O., are among its most important traffic assets.

The Norfolk and Western owns valuable dock property in Toledo, the acquisition of which would mean much in the development of the coal and ore handling interests of the Norfolk and Western.

If the Pennsylvania gets the road at the receiver's sale it not only will furnish that system its coveted entrance into Detroit but, when the Pennsylvania carries out its proposed plan of extending its Toledo division west to form a main line between Toledo and Chicago, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton would give it direct entrance to Toledo for an enormous amount of tonnage brought from the mines of southern Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

CHARGE ILLEGAL USE
OF RAILWAY PASSES*Inquiry into Conditions in Various States is Being Made by Interstate Commerce Commission.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 22.—Improper and illegal use of railway passes is being investigated by the interstate commerce commission. The inquiry has proceeded far enough to show in the language of the commission that "carriers have very generally obeyed the letter of the law," but it is indicated by information that has reached the commission that "the issuance of passes for state travel has operated to defeat the purpose of the act to regulate commerce. That passes for state travel have been issued to certain shippers and denied to others, and that the moving considerations of such passes has been the routing of interstate shipment of property."

AVOID PROSECUTION
BY FORSAKING CITY*Charles H. Brown and Alma Lezatte
Came to This City Last Night—
Ordered Out of Milwaukee.

Charles H. Brown and Alma Lezatte, former residents of the town of Center, who were arrested in Milwaukee about five days ago on a charge of vagrancy, were arraigned before Judge Biersdorf yesterday and told to leave the city at once to avoid prosecution. They arrived in Jamesville last night, accompanied by the mother of the Lezatte woman. Brown will leave at once to work in a northern lumber camp and the woman with whom he was arrested, will return with her mother to Mercer, where she formerly lived.

The Lezatte woman kept house for Brown and his father on the latter's farm six miles west of the city, about two years ago. She is married, but confessed to the police that she ran away with Brown. It is said her husband has begun an action for divorce.

Visit Library. Miss Helen Terwiller of the Wisconsin Library Commission and Miss Janos of the Wisconsin Library School visited the Jamesville public library yesterday. Miss Janos and two other students from the library school will come to this city to work on the library card catalogues during the months of February and March.

TURKEY AGREES TO SIGN PEACE PACTS
ON ALLIES' TERMS*Officially Announces That Demands of the Powers Will Be Agreed to at Peace Conference.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—The grand council of the Ottoman empire voted today in favor of accepting the proposal put forward by the European powers for the purpose of bringing about the conclusion of peace.

The note handed to the Porte January 17, by the European ambassadors at Constantinople, called the Ottoman government's attention to the grave responsibilities it would assume if by resistance to their counsels it should prevent the re-establishment of peace. It would have only itself to blame if the prolongation of the war had as a consequence to put in question the fate of the capital and perhaps to extend hostilities to the Asiatic provinces of the empire.

Will Surrender. Vienna, Jan. 22.—Turkey has decided to surrender Adrianople to the Bulgarians, according to a semi-official telegram from Constantinople today.

Turkish Losses. Constantinople, Jan. 22.—The Turkish losses in the naval battle with the Greek fleet in the Dardanelles, on Jan. 18th totaled four officers and thirty-six men killed while 164 others were wounded.

Shell Explodes. In the course of the fight a Greek shell exploded in the side of one of the torpedoes of the Turkish battleship Torguek and killed and wounded every man in it and disabled both of the 11 inch guns.

Battleship Damaged. The Turkish battleship Awwar-Tewfik was also badly damaged. The Turkish gunners declare that they inflicted more important losses on the Greeks.

Prisoners Crowded. London, Jan. 22.—The prisoners of the Hungarian city of Szeged are crowded with Serbian agitators and the law courts have been rushed with work according to a dispatch received today. Trial by jury has been suspended by the court in several places in Hungary owing to this fact that the majority of the jurors are Serbians and inevitably ally their fellow country men.

USE THIRD DEGREE IN CHICAGO PROBE*Stringent Methods Will Be Employed to Get at the Bottom of Auto Bandit Crimes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22.—Police today planned to invoke the third degree in an effort to learn the true story of the killing of the detective, Peter Hart, who was shot to death last Monday afternoon by "Reddy" Webb, the motor bandit, whom the officer was trying to arrest. The police claim to have found a discrepancy in the narrative told by Frank Media, the "bandit" "fence," Michael Angelo Cassella and Isabel Hastings and hope to get the real facts in further examination. Meanwhile, search for Webb went on and the state's attorneys prepared to present to the grand jury his evidence against James B. Perry and Frank McElrath, Webb's associates.

ASK RECOGNITION OF REPUBLIC OF CHINA*Chamber of Commerce Representatives Discuss Condition With Relation to Oriental Trade.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 22.—Recognition of the new republic of China was the topic for discussion when the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States convened again today. The necessity for taking some official and decisive action toward welcoming the new republic into the family of nations was emphasized and it was declared that aside from the ethical question, trade in the Orient must suffer from delay in acknowledging the dawn of a new governmental era in the celestial empire. Delegates were looking forward to being received at the White House late in the day.

GERMANS WOULD LIKE

HELEN GOULD WEDS
HIGH NOON TODAY*CEREMONY PERFORMED AT TAR-RYTOWN ON THE HUDSON
AT BRIDE'S HOME.*IS LARGELY ATTENDED*Relatives and Friends From All Parts of the County Present at the Wedding—Presenters Are Most Elaborate.

New York, Jan. 22.—With the wedding today of Miss Helen M. Gould and Finley J. Shepard, which took place at the country home of the bride near Tarrytown, all of the children of the late Jay Gould have entered the ranks of matrimony.

The Bowery and Fifth avenue found common focus for interest today in the wedding at Tarrytown. Society is interested because of the wealth of the Gould family and the Bowery and thousands of others in needy circumstances, who have been benefited by Miss Gould's long continued philanthropy.

Because they consider Helen Gould their friend. Neither Fifth avenue nor the Bowery was represented at the wedding, however, as in line with Miss Gould's desire to avoid the ostentatious the guests were confined to close relatives.

Miss Gould took complete charge of things today. When some relatives arrived she handled their baggage notwithstanding the protest of a servant. She was in the best of spirits with the shower of gifts and congratulatory telegrams descending upon her up to the very hour of the wedding.

At noon the main contingent of the wedding was taken from Miss Gould's home on Fifth avenue and there taken to Tarrytown in an automobile raveled by detectives. Nearly a score of these men were stationed about the house and Tarrytown village and Tarrytown today has a crowd of curious folk including many strangers.

The marriage certificate which Rev. Daniel Russell will present to Miss Gould will bear this verse from the fifth chapter of Ephesians, "Let every one of you in particular so love his wife as himself and his see that she reverence her husband."

and had satisfied up to the time of the wedding the curiosity of their friends as to where they will spend their honeymoon.

When Jay Gould died in 1892 he left four sons, two daughters, a hundred million dollars and a peculiar will. The first great "wizard of Wall Street" wanted to keep all his money in the family. He also wanted to keep peace in the family. Accordingly he willed all his wealth to his children and stipulated that no child should marry without the consent and approval of the others. A forfeiture of half the child's share in the estate was to be the penalty for a marriage without this approval. Like many another will drawn under similar circumstances it failed, when put to the test, to fully serve its purpose. For, while the marriage of Miss Helen Gould as well as the marriages of several of the other children could not but be to the liking of the great financier, there have been marital alliances in the family that probably would not have met with his approval were he alive to sanction them.

GIVE FIRST READING TO SMOKE ORDINANCE

Measure Introduced in Council Yesterday Afternoon Provides Penalty for Creation of Nuisance.

First and second readings were given by the city council yesterday afternoon to an ordinance declaring the discharge of dense smoke to be a nuisance and providing penalties for the creation and maintenance of the same. The ordinance was drawn up by City Attorney Dougherty after a careful examination of the smoke ordinances enacted and in force in other cities. Many cities compel the installation of smoke consumers, prescribe a minimum height for chimneys and penalize the emission of dense smoke under any circumstances, but as local conditions are far different than in large industrial centers it was decided to make the Janesville ordinance less drastic in its provisions, though not the less effective. The text of the ordinance is given in full:

Section 1. From and after this act becomes effective, the emission or discharge into the open air of dense, black, or thick smoke in such quantity as to cause a deposit of soot, cinders or other substance on any of the streets shall constitute a public nuisance.

Section 2. The owner under all circumstances, or the persons having charge or control of any building, or of any other cause or source of such nuisance, whether he be the agent, employee, lessee or other hold under such owner, shall be deemed guilty of creating and maintaining a public nuisance in the said City of Janesville and upon conviction of such offense shall be punished by a fine of not less than five ($5.00) dollars, nor more than twenty-five ($25) dollars, and each day's continuance of such nuisance shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section 3. This ordinance shall be in force and take effect from and after ten days following its passage and upon its publication, which said publication shall be for three successive days during the said interim of ten days.

WORD IS RECEIVED
FROM C. R. ZEININGER

Janesville Young Man Unheard From For Several Months Writes of Destructive Typhoons in Philippines.

Miss Caroline F. Zeininger has just received a letter from her nephew, C. Russell Zeininger, who has served for the past three years in the Philippine constabulary, and from whom no word has been received for several months past. Mr. Zeininger, who is stationed at Tacloban, Island of Leyte, was in the path of the typhoons which swept over the southern part of the archipelago last fall and since then has been engaged in relief expeditions to the natives. Under date of Dec. 2 he writes in part to his aunt:

"I suppose that you all have had it figured out that I crawled off somewhere and died, but I can assure you that I have been very much alive in the past six weeks. As you may have read from the papers we have had two of the worst typhoons in the history of the islands, in this locality, the first coming on the night of the 15th of October. The full force of this storm struck Masian where I was, but as my house was probably the strongest in the town it was not blown down. The whole roof was taken off and everything that I had was completely ruined. There were more than 150 people in the house at the time that the storm was at its worst and Lt. Boggan and myself had our hands full preventing a stampede when the roof went. The next day we were busy giving aid to the injured and burying the dead and two days later I left on a relief expedition to the neighboring towns. I have been out in the wilds in this relief work ever since, without getting back to civilization for clean clothes. I was invited to Tacloban to spend Thanksgiving and was on my way there when the second typhoon hit. This almost completely destroyed Tacloban and as soon as I arrived here I was sent out with a steamer to distribute free rice to the stricken towns. From this expedition I just returned last night.

"The condition of the people of this province at this time is pitiable and unless there is something done soon there will be considerable trouble brewing as hunger will stir up the lawless element.

"I am here waiting transportation to get back to Masian, but it is possible that I shall be transferred back up here as assistant to the Senior Inspector with the view of relieving the Paymaster when he goes on leave in March.

"All telegraph communication has been cut off from this section or I would have sent a cable earlier, but I have never been in any of the towns which have a postoffice, and I have had no paper with me in the hills."

Relatives of Mr. Zeininger were worried when they failed to receive word from him for such a long period and made inquiries at the war department at Washington without definite information, although the officials there stated that there was no cause for alarm. A return card for a Christmas package was signed by another party which gave rise to further apprehension.

STOMACH STARVERS
EAT ANYTHING NOW

No Indigestion, Dyspepsia or Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomach for "Pape's Diapepsin" Users.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

INTERESTING FACTS
FOR RAILROAD MEN

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in its report of the week investigation, reveals some interesting facts and statistics for the railroad men, the essence of which follows:

In 1912 there were: Collisions, 3,453. These collisions caused $4,320,200 worth of damage to the railroad company and caused 378 deaths and 7,349 injuries. Derailments, 8,215. These derailments cost the companies $7,197,252 and were the cause of 394 deaths and 7,147 injuries.

The total accidents amounted to 13,668 in number, causing damage in money to the extent of $11,527,458. The total number of deaths was 772 and 15,096 were injured.

In 1911 there were 11,365 accidents (1,833 less than in 1912), the damage done in that year amounting to $9,851,750.00. The death toll in this year was 785, there being 15 more than in the following year. This is explained by the fact that steel cars had come into more common use, making the main practically fireproof. With the old wooden coaches fire was a dangerous proposition as the cars would invariably catch fire and cremate the passengers.

Every year shows an increase of accidents, for in 1908 there was only a little more than half as many accidents as there was in 1912. In 1909 there was only 9,670 collisions and derailments, which is 4,028 less than last year.

There were many reasons given why this accident rate should increase so rapidly, the most of which are explained in defects in equipment and roadway. Excessive speed as a factor in train accidents deserves serious consideration. The remarkable increase in speed and weight of trains in recent years, and the crowding of tracks and terminals caused by the enormous increase of traffic, have increased the duties of employees and enlarged chances of error on their part.

One of the chief inspectors of safety appliances whose name is H. V. Belknap, stated: "Excessive speed is the cause of 75 to 80 per cent of the catastrophes in the last few years." The American people are speed crazy and the public patronizes the railroad which makes the fastest time. People desire to travel fast and safety and the safety part generally means time on the second thought with most people. The railroad managers realize this and are beginning to cut down the causes of accidents by numerous methods, the chief one being the "Safety First" committee.

Since the railroad men themselves are the majority of these killed they will be vitally interested in this new movement. The passengers also will awaken to the fact that fast traveling is not always the best way and the owners of the roads must realize the enormous saving that could be made if accidents could be reduced to a minimum. These three parties are all deeply interested in this subject and at least the former parties will do all in their power to diminish the appalling list of accidents.

CHICAGO & NORTHWESTERN.

There will be a meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive, Firemen and Engineers at the lodge rooms, Sunday January 26. As important business will be discussed all members are asked to be present.

This statement of employees reported killed or injured on the Northwestern line during the month of December was received a short time ago and filed on the bulletin board. The death and injuries of this month is the lowest of any preceding months and are as follows: Of the employees engaged in train service there were five killed and 149 injured. Two of the five fatal injuries were caused from carelessness in coupling cars.

The report stated that 55 were injured in switching service, 59 in station work, 97 in track work, 15 in bridgework, 44 in car repair, 102 in shop and roundhouse work, and there were 38 injuries in the unclassified list. The total number of deaths was five and injuries 557.

CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL.

Inspection was recently made by a federal inspector of freight trains on one of the trains. The federal government regulation require that not less than eighty-five percent of all the cars in any revenue train should be equipped with air brakes and this percent must be in working order.

Instructions requiring trainmen to make careful brake tests before leaving initial terminal should be strictly complied with, and the government inspectors will see that the regulations are carried out.

Engineers Price, Smith, Kottog, Filling and Hazlet are laying off for a short time.

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE
IN FLOOD DISTRICT

Evansville, Ind., Officials Find Both Public and Private Property Seriously Impaired.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 22.—With the gradual receding of the Ohio river new problems confront the city officials. The river stood at 43.2 feet today. Already the sanitary officers and building inspectors have begun making the special examinations of sewers and buildings. Many dwellings have been moved on their foundations by the flood and cellar walls have been cracked, causing thousands of dollars damage.

The steamer Lowry, arriving from Paducah, Ky., this morning brought forty refugees from Vincennes, Ind., which is now fifteen feet below the water's level. All danger of the levee breaking is believed to have passed.

Could Thank For Joy.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters have no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents at People's Drug Co.

Every-day Dyspepsia

In my article last Saturday I made the statement that there are a great many cases of catarrh of the stomach that are not recognized as such.

I want to emphasize that statement. Nearly every case of so-called dyspepsia is in reality catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases of so-called rheumatism are catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases of constipation are caused by catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases that come under the general term of biliousness are catarrh of the stomach.

Thousands of Testimonials.

As stated in my article last Saturday, there is no class of cases that write me more frequently or more enthusiastically as to the benefits received from Peruna than this very class. I feel safe in saying that a greater number of people have recovered from catarrh of the stomach by taking Peruna than any other remedy in the world. This may be partly due to the fact that more people know about Peruna than any other remedy, but it is certainly also due to the fact that Peruna is an excellent remedy for such cases.

Write to Dr. Hartman.

Whenever it seems to fall a letter calling my attention to the matter is generally sufficient for me to be able to set it right. Even though Peruna has been taken, the patient may be impatient in his diet or habits and thus defeat the remedy. But under ordinary, reasonable circumstances Peruna may confidently be expected to render exactly the assistance that Nature needs in these cases.

THE MILITARY GIRL.

"Miss Frances Warren, the dainty young comedienne, is the only woman in the world," says the Louisville, Ky. Post, "to drive the Overland Wind Wagon. The Wind Wagon is a huge racing body with a large wooden propeller in the rear exactly like the aeroplane propellers, and when in action makes 800 revolutions a minute. This machine makes 60 miles an hour easily and Miss Warren made the first lap of the half-mile track in Louisville in exactly 39 seconds in the presence of a large and greatly interested crowd. Miss Warren is a slender girl and no one seeing her would imagine her driving a great racing car like the Wind Wagon." Miss Warren is this season playing the name part in the hit musical comedy success, "The Military Girl," which will be seen in this city at the Myers theatre, Thursday, January 23.

But Nelson, the ex-champion thinks well of Luther McCarthy. He regards the Nebraskan as a most promising candidate for the heavyweight championship, and believes that in a year he need not hesitate about taking on any fighter in the world. Nelson also has a very high regard for Carl Morris. "Morris has championship material in him," insists the Durable Dane. "The fellow was sprung in fast company too soon."

Jess Westergard, who is considered by many experts the best American wrestler, with Frank Gotch retired, has declared his intention of taking up the fighting game. "He has been encouraged in the belief that he has fighting material in his makeup, and even hopes eventually to put a stop to Luther McCarthy."

If Westergard makes good at the fight game he will be doing what no wrestler ever did before. Whistler Gotch, Willoughby—good grapplers all—have gone into fighting at some time in their careers, only to fail, and woefully at that.

"This Joe Rivers is a tough boy, and don't count him out of the lightweight championship race by any means," remarked Joe McIntosh, the plucky little New Orleans fighter, the other day. "Still, I beat him by a wide margin in our first bout than he trimmed me when we met the second time. I'd like to get him again. He's awfully popular in Los Angeles, where everybody is with him. I'd like to see how he performs away from home, or before a crowd that wasn't hostile to his opponent."

Baseball Notes.

Horace Fogel, the former president of the Philadelphia Nationals, has gone into the hotel business in Atlantic City.

Pitcher Larry Pape, of the Boston Red Sox, was recently sold unconditionally to the Buffalo Club, of the International League.

Tom Connery, who managed the Hartford team of the Connecticut State league, last year, has been signed as scout for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Karl Crandall, brother of Otis Crandall, of the Giants, and field captain of the Memphis team in 1912, has been signed by the Indianapolis club.

A brother of Zach Wheat's will be taken along with the Brooklyn Superbas on the training trip. Zach says his brother is a great catcher and will make good.

With Bresnahan, Archer and Needham the Chicago Cubs have the only Irish-born catching staff in baseball. All three of the backstops were born in Ireland.

Manager Hugh Jennings says he will make many changes in the Detroit lineup for the coming season. One of the moves will be the placing of Sam Crawford on first base.

George Winter, the former big league pitcher, has been engaged to coach the baseball team of the University of Vermont. Winter managed the St. John, N. B. team last season. The Empire Tom Connolly, of the Amertop of the list in the lightweight division. The Crescent City lad doesn't care in what order Willie Ritchie, the present champion; Ad Wolgast, the ex-champion; Joe Rivers and Jack Britton, the other aspirants are sent against him.

Following T. Leroy Chance, his lord and hero, "Red", the fat boy, is leaving Chicago for the wilds of New York. "What's the use of sticking around here?" asks "Red", whose real name is Grover Galligan. "What's the use, I say? Here's Chance gone. There's Tinker gone. There's nobody left now but Evers, and he'll bowl everybody all season long. It won't be like the old gang. Jimmy Sheekard is due to get the hook and I'm cutting."

"Yes, I know the Cubs used to win when they did what I told them. But 'Husk' used to make 'em. He was wise. He knew that when I got a hunch it was a real hunch. That's why they won. Well, I'll give the Yanks my tips next summer. Watch 'Husk' and me bring them right into line for the pennant."

Sam Langford and his manager, Joe Woodman, have left Australia and are now on their way back to America. The Boston "Red" is ambitious to meet Joe Jeannette in California during the spring or summer.

Mike Donlin is a high priced baseball man, and this is said to be the reason why none of the National league clubs wants his services in 1913. If Mike would be willing to accept less than $5,000 salary he could probably get a contract for 1913, anyway.

STOUGHTON GAME IS SCHEDULED FRIDAY

Although Disappointed at Cancellation of Normal Contest High School Five Add Vim to Practice.

Whitewater Normal School canceled the proposed game with the local high school basketball team yesterday afternoon. This is the second incident of the kind on the part of the Normalites as last Friday they canceled because of a conflict in their schedule. The locals are disappointed because they expected a hard game to put them in shape for their stiff struggle with the fast Stoughton five on Friday night of this week.

After receiving the news yesterday, the team went into practice with a determination of fighting for improvement in order to defeat the Stoughton players. This will be a hard game, and the first contest with a team in the Southern Wisconsin Basketball League. The first contest in the league took place last Friday night, when Stoughton defeated Jefferson in an exciting game at Stoughton by the score of 27 to 12.

The following scores are taken from the games of last Friday and Saturday night in other sections of the state among high schools. The state tournament is of great interest now, and the games leading to this event are being watched by every interested fan.

Stoughton, 27; Jefferson, 12.
Racine, 23; Kenosha, 18.
Antigo, 26; Shawano, 8.
Evanston, 32; Brodhead, 3.
Columbus, 25; Edgerton, 18.
Albany, 29; Brooklyn, 12.
Menasha, 26; Sheboygan, 23.
Manitowoc, 23; West Green Bay, 11.
East Green Bay, 9; Oconto, 22.
January 18:—
Fond du Lac, 28; Appleton, 25.
Menominee, 25; Eau Claire, 17.

Scores will be published as they are received from other sections in the state.

With The Boxers
Yankee Schwartz and Bat Schultz have been signed to box in Columbus, O., Jan. 29.

The proposed 20-round bout between Al Palmer and Jack Johnson resembles a large piece of cheese.

In earning a draw in his recent bout with Joe Rivers, Leuch Cross showed New York fans that he was a real fighter.

Spike Kelly's defeat of Ray Bronson in Memphis the other night, has boosted the stock of the Chicago boxer quite some.

Jimmy Walsh, the Boston bantamweight, has been engaged as boxing instructor at the Brookline Municipal Gymnasium.

Abe Attell, Al Kaufman and other boxers who have been declared in the down and out class, will not be allowed to compete in bouts in San Francisco in the future.

It looks as if Jack Dillon had disposed of Frank Mantell as a contender for the middleweight title. Mantell never had a chance with the Hoosier boxer in their recent bout at Providence.

BASKETBALL TEAM PLAYS AT MILTON TOMORROW

Tomorrow night the local White Sox basketball team will go to Milton and clash with the Milton high school at the college gymnasium. This team has defeated the Milton team this season and expect to give them a beating which they will remember. The following boys will compose the team, McElroy, Richards, Rau, Stickney, Bleasdale and Garbutt.

SUCCESSFUL YOUTHFUL TRADER.

That age and experience are not necessary to success in stock market trading is maintained by a member of the Consolidated Exchange, who vouches for the verity of the following: "A youth, apparently an office boy or assistant in a stock brokerage or banking firm, appeared at the office of a consolidated firm in 60 Wall street, where the junior member of the firm was in charge, the senior member being on the floor of the Exchange. The youth wanted to open a trading account with the purchase of ten shares of a certain low priced stock. He had only $35 in cash to put up as margin, and when told by the member of the firm in charge that the firm's invariable rule was at least five points margin on any stock dealt in, and ten or more on those of high market value, the youth seemed so disappointed and dejected that his woe-begone expression and demeanor appealed to the sympathies of the broker, who asked the lad what he knew about the stock in question and why he wanted to buy it.

"The youth answered that he had been watching the market fluctuations and swings for several months, and he felt assured that this stock was due for an upward turn.

"Well," said the broker, "I tell you what I'll do. I cannot infringe our rules, but I'll lend you $15 out of my own pocket, and give you a receipt for $50 and you can pay me back out of your profit, if you are right." Within twenty-four hours the stock had advanced 3 1/2 points. The youth closed out, and immediately made a draft on his account for $15 to repay the broker his loan. Then he sold the shares of another stock on which he made a small profit, and closed the short sale. That boy acted cautiously until his credit balance had assumed proportions of four figures before the decimal point, when he began to trade in fifty and one hundred share lots. Sometimes he made a mistake, when he would always jump quick, and reverse his action. He was right about 90 per cent of the time, and to make a long story short, in less than four months he closed the account, having cleared more than $12,000 in profits. I presume he felt that he could then trade in lots of 100, 200, or 500 shares on the Big Exchange."

This scrap of history, from a financial journal, indicates that successful financiers are born, and not made. The average man is not a great money-maker, and if he finds himself in comfortable circumstances, at the close of a long career, it is usually because he has been economical, and hoarded his savings.

There are a few men who seem to possess a genius for making money, and they never belong to the conservative class. Like the Wall street boy, they are ready to take long chances. They are not gamblers, but shrewd investors, and their speculations are based on good judgment. This class of men discover opportunities which the average man passes by unnoticed. They go to the front rapidly in this country, because it is a land of opportunity, and they are cleverly hated by the masses, because they are successful. Yet every last one of us would copy them, if we could.

WATERING THE DESERTS.

"What became of 'The Great American Desert' will never be known until the facts of irrigation get into the mind of the inquirer. But the one fact that the length of ditches carrying water to the thirsty lands in the arid regions of the United States is enough to reach five times around the earth on the lines of the equator will be enough to prove the mastery which man has slowly acquired over the land where it seldom rains. The area under irrigation in 1910 was 19,334,000 acres, while the area included in all projects completed or in process of development was 31,111,444 acres. The cost of watering the desert was $307,866,869, or about one-third more than the value of minerals taken from Alaska in the past thirty-two years. There's paving gold in the desert waters if not in the salt seas."

This news paragraph brings to the surface the magnitude of the great irrigation systems of the west, and shows that long before the government was infested with the microbes of conservatism, private capital was taking chances in the work of redemption.

The claim is made that for every dollar taken out of the gold mines, a dollar is invested in money and labor. What is true of the mines is doubly true of irrigated land, and the original investors usually die unrewarded.

The pioneers in any great enterprise are not the men who reap the fortunes. Most of the men who blazed the trail across the continent and made it possible to open up the highways, which have contributed so largely to development and prosperity, have passed on. Few of the men who helped to redeem the desert will live to enjoy the fruits of their labor and sacrifice.

A READY EXCUSE.

People seldom apply for admission to a sanatorium unless they wish to enter. However, in the face of a long waiting list of applicants at Vales and every other tuberculosis sanatorium in this part of the country, a member of the County Board tried to defend his action in voting against the sanatorium on the ground that there was no law compelling patients to enter.

How nice it is to have a ready excuse if he can really make himself see it that way. Though his reasoning is illogical and his action unbecomingly, as far as excuses go, this man is an inventive genius. If a neighboring section were to be stricken with famine he would not feel justified in contributing because the chances are there would be no law compelling the people, starving from lack of food, to eat. If the measure before the Board had been one for the compulsory segregation of tuberculosis cases and entailed a tax of some kind, it is a safe bet that he would have voted against it on the ground that the tuberculosis sufferers are trying to get into sanatoria all right but there is no room for them.

Really, the old woman who lived in the shoe, New Jersey, the Mother of Trusts, appears to be preparing to spank some of her offspring and follow out the old nursery rhyme:

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe;
She had so many children she didn't know what to do,
She gave them some broth without any bread,
And spanked them all soundly and put them to bed."

The city of Racine has a petition ready to present to the council, asking for an election on the commission form of government issue. Other cities in the state are taking similar action. Commission rule is no longer an experiment, and within a decade it will be generally adopted by the cities of the country.

The state of New York, with a population of 9,109,000, pays a per capita tax of $8.06, while Wisconsin, with a population seventy-five per cent less, pays a tax of $5.00 per capita. If we ever get enough people the Empire state will be obliged to take a back seat on taxation.

There is no dove of peace hovering about Insurance Commissioner Ekern's office these strenuous days of reform in Wisconsin and the Balkan war cloud looks like a summer shower compared to McGovern's dark belled frown over the situation.

The liquor traffic is coming in for its share of attention at the present session of the legislature. Bills with number have already been submitted, including the five-mile limit law which is so much feared by Madison liquor dealers.

The parcels post will make a mail order house of every enterprising merchant, and may solve the problem of how to meet this class of competition.

Moving picture men who want to reproduce the realistic should get the Ute warriors to pose for them before it is too late.

What is the use of an academy of "immortals" when there is an Annapolis club in existence with a daily increasing membership.

If Turkey keeps them waiting until spring comes some of its enemies will have to go back to their farm to work.

COMMENT OF THE PRESS.

Commission Rule in Memphis. Rockford Star: Memphis, one of the largest southern cities, is operating under the commission form. Donald P. Mann, newspaper man and prominent citizen, declares it is a complete success.

"It is not perfect government," says Mr. Mann, "but it is the most perfect yet devised. It awakens the people as it arouses their civic pride. This is due to the fact that it is popular yet responsible government. It leaves everything to the people. Memphis is spending more money on improvements than ever before yet appropriations have not increased and taxes have decreased. We now have a government of efficiency, economy and good results achieved. It is business sense and business concentration."

Look Out, Governor McGovern. Chicago Inter-Ocean: Governor McGovern of Wisconsin recently removed from office Herman L. Ekern, commissioner of insurance of Wisconsin.

Senator La Follette says, "The people of Wisconsin will not submit to this." He says so in big type in his weekly.

Helping the War on Frats. Beloit News: The Beloit school board took the right stand on Saturday when it asked Assemblyman Rosa and Senator Cunningham to introduce and work for the passage of a bill in the legislature aimed at prohibiting frats in high schools. The legislature should not hesitate to pass such a law and the state should see to it that it is rigidly enforced.

month of September. This might be of some use in getting the farmers out to vote, but if voting by mail is successfully carried through, the farmers will not necessarily care much.

The General Opinion.

Evening Wisconsin: Assemblyman Roessler's bill for the repeal of the Mary Ann law is said to be an outgrowth of the conviction on his part that the effort to provide for a second choice by voters at elections is an unmitigated nuisance. His opinion is that ninety-nine per cent of the people of Wisconsin.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

The Artistic Temperament. Maggie Jones studied music and learned how to sing. And she went in quiet strong for the grand opera thing.

When she visited home her reception was grand. But her language, the old folks could not understand. For she spoke with a strange, almost foreign accent. On account of her artistic temperament.

Henry Peck was the pride and the joy of his town. Till one day he leaped into a sudden renown. When he drew a cartoon which called forth loud acclaim. And secured a half-Nelson on old Mistress Fame.

Then he quit work and hasn't a single red cent. On account of his artistic temperament. Katie Rinks made good money typewriting until. Some one told her she had a fine artistic skill. And she went in for painting just three months ago. And she spent all her coin on a fine studio.

Katie's had been ejected for missing the rent. On account of her artistic temperament. William Hanks was a blacksmith and was all the rage. With the home talent shows, so he went on the stage. Now his wife has divorced him and he's had a lurch. That he's well on the road to the gin mill free lunch.

For hard work has not recently been William's bent. On account of his artistic temperament. In the works of the slangiest high art is a "chime." And hereafter it's naught but the old fame for mine. For three square meals a day and the quiet home game. Is a mighty sight better than laurels and fame.

For there's no peace of mind and no lasting content. When you're stung by the artistic temperament. A New Champagne Peril. This country is facing another crisis. This awful news has just leaked out, via New York, that on account of the shortage of the grape crop this year there is going to be a champagne famine. Many families will be caught without a drop of champagne in the house. Thus it is that the seriousness of the crisis manifests itself.

It is the first time this has happened for many years and the public will hardly know how to meet the new conditions. There have been famines in the luxuries of life, such as bread and coal, but never in champagne. There is some question as to how the new battalions will be christened, and the champagne famine may prove a great setback in this respect. The United States can hardly afford to drop from second or third place to seventh or eighth on account of a scarcity of champagne, and it seems as though the administration would bestir itself to find a remedy.

When one stops to consider the awful suffering that the shortage of champagne will cause in the popularity of stricken districts along the Great White Way and of the misery that will prevail among the Pittsburgh millionaires and the chorus girls the true meaning of the situation becomes apparent. But let everyone remain as calm as possible and it may turn out that the resorts concerning the grape crop failure have been exaggerated.

My Lady's Hat. A little bunch of bent and battered felt. A quarter's worth of face that's hardly seen: Two rooster feathers stuck upon the top; A bunch of artificial grapes between.

A paner rose or two pinned on the side. A silver buckle, value fifteen cents: A velvet ribbon hangin' down behind: The whole thing made "regardless of expense."

The thing looks like a soup plate upside down. It hangs around her head, before and aft. Looks drooping like and white, from the rain: The whole effect's enough to drive one daft.

A man should beat a sewing basket until it looks like nothing on this earth. And trim it up and make his wife a hat. For then he'd surely get his money's worth.

Bill for Her bonnet. Ten plunks Doggone it.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

LEARNING ENDURANCE.

Max Nordau says that society—by which he means the smart set—is changing its winter habits; likewise its winter habitat. In the old days it went south. Now it goes north. There is more in the change than one of direction. It is all the difference between soft self-indulgence and hard endurance.

People with money are learning what people without money knew long ago—that not only strength and virtue, but grace and beauty, are found in the process of overcoming hard conditions. Now the smart set members of many countries are going in for the roughest winter sports, skis, skates, bobsleds, jumping poles and all the rest.

As a result M. Nordau asserts that the women are becoming more willow, more supple and stronger. If this process continues long enough it will breed a new race. The majority of us do not have the opportunity to go to northern winter resorts, but then we need not do so, having the same conditions right at our doorsteps.

What we do need, both in summer and winter, is to live more with nature and to play in the open. Soft lives beget degeneracy. Sometimes it requires a generation or two to show the evil effects, but they are sure to follow.

It is the bracing winter air, night and day, that cures tuberculosis. That discovery has been invaluable to the human race. It is beginning to banish the terrors of the great white plague.

Bracing winter air is good for people, whether they have tuberculosis or not. It breeds a hardy race of men and women. "To him that overcometh" is promised all things, for by overcoming we gain not alone strength and endurance, but self-reliance, individuality, courage and the sense of mastery.

Among the things to be overcome are the rigors of climate. Thus the northern win in fiber what they lose in comfort.

Real men and women want not the easy, but the difficult, for it is by surmounting the difficult that we call out our powers and become full statured.

WARM WAVES COMING FOSTER PREDICTION

Last of Present Month Will Be Favored With Moderate Weather As Will First of February.

(Copyrighted 1913 by W. T. Foster.) Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross continent Jan. 25 to 29, warm wave 24 to 28, cool wave 27 to 31. A cold wave will precede this disturbance and the warm wave will go to higher than usual degrees but the temperatures of the week will average about normal. The word normal is used to signify the average of many years for that day, week or month and for that place. Normal also is that condition best suited to the crops of that section. When temperatures or rainfall are above or below normal it is not the best crop weather.

Next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about Jan. 29, cross Pacific slope by close of 30, great central valleys 31 to Feb. 2, eastern sections 3. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan. 29, great central valleys 31, eastern sections Feb. 2. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Feb. 1, great central valleys 3, eastern sections 5.

This will be about an average disturbance, of greater force on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts than in the central valleys. Not much precipitation.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about Feb. 3, cross Pacific slope by close of 4, great central valleys 5 to 7, eastern sections 8. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about Feb. 5, great central valleys 5, eastern sections 7. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Feb. 6, great central valleys 8, eastern sections 10.

This will bring the warmest weather of February to the sections south of latitude 40, but north of that latitude the warmest February weather will come near the middle of the month. Some rain or snow Feb. 4 to 8, and the storm will be of more than usual force.

February will average colder east of meridian 90 than between meridian 90 and the Rockies. Freezing and thawing during that month will injure winter grain in great central valleys. Not much snow except on northern Pacific slope. Some good rains in middle Missouri valleys.

Dangerous storms of February may be expected 20 to 27. We can not locate these storms. We cannot locate the concentrated rains called cloudbursts, such as recently occurred in the upper Ohio valleys and caused the great and sudden Ohio floods. The moisture of all the continent east of Rockies was concentrated by that storm. We gave warning of the severe storms but not of the floods.

The dangerous storms, Feb. 20 to 27, will probably cause concentrated rains but we can not say where. East of Rockies the February precipitation will be less than usual as an average.

Spring crop-weather promises to open early, more particularly in great central valleys. March will be cold from about 6 to 16, then very warm to end of month. Early maturing crops should be put in. Early order to get benefit of the moisture in the soil in the early spring. But some sections will get their best rains last of June and in July with a drouth in August. In those sections the late maturing crops should be put in so as to mature by the middle of August.

We cannot, through these bulletins, advise farmers and planters when to sell grain and cotton. Speculators would take advantage of such information and defeat the purpose. Sometimes these bulletins advise when not to sell and no farmer or planter has ever complained to us that such advice was not good. About the only mistake we have made in that line of recent years was on 1912 oats. The Balkan-Turkish war has affected prices of grain but we do not think that war will long continue.

HELEN GOULD WEDS AT HIGH NOON TODAY

(Continued from page 1.) George Jay Gould, the eldest son, was married some six years before his father's death. Jay Gould was decidedly opposed to his eldest son's choice of a wife. When the son made it known that he was going to marry the beautiful Miss Edith Kingston, a member of Augustin Daly's company and a talented actress, the founder of the family protested vigorously. George Gould won the day. Afterward Jay Gould became extremely fond of his daughter-in-law and her interesting children. He was quite reconciled to the match after it was consummated. The Goulds have been married more than twenty-five years and their union appears to be an unusually happy one.

Edwin Gould, the second son, has been happily married for twenty years. His wife was Miss Sarah Canine Shady, a stepdaughter of a noted New York physician. Miss Shady was a beautiful and accomplished girl, not wealthy and not closely identified with the "swell" set. The family advisory committee gave its qualified approval to Edwin Gould's choice. The matrimonial bank of Howard Gould, the third son, has not had such smooth sailing. When quite a young man Howard Gould had an affair with Miss Odette Tyler, an actress considerably his senior. It was reported that they were engaged to be married. The family advisory committee was called together and the proposal was negatived. Howard went abroad, where he met another actress, Miss Katherine Clemmons, a California beauty. Once more the advisory committee met and the result was a threat to divert $5,000,000 of Howard's patrimony if he persisted in marrying Miss Clemmons. Howard did persist. In fact, he told the family to keep the $5,000,000 and straightaway he married the actress. The family afterward relented and let him keep all his inheritance. Howard also relented and in 1909 he was divorced from his wife after a sensational suit in which the names of William F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill") and Dustin Farnum, the actor were freely mentioned.

Frank J. Gould, the youngest son of the financier, has also figured in domestic brookles that have brought him more than an average share of notoriety. In 1901 Frank Gould was lastly married to Miss Helen M. Kelly, granddaughter of the late Eugene Kelly, who was for years Jay Gould's greatest business enemy. The marriage was not a happy one and in 1909 Mrs. Gould obtained a divorce. Almost immediately after the divorce Mr. Gould went abroad and married an actress of the same family name as his first wife, though the two were not related. The matrimonial troubles of Miss Anna Gould, Jay Gould's youngest daughter, filled columns of space in the newspapers some years ago. Her marriage in 1895 to Count Boni de Castellane, an impetuous scion of a noble French family, was disapproved by the family council, though it gave a reluctant consent. In the fourth year of the union the couples told the final parting of the Castles and that divorce proceedings would be instituted because of the intolerable cruelty and infidelity of the count, committed while he was squandering $8,000,000 of the Jay Gould fortune which his American wife brought him. The final decree of divorce was granted in 1906 and some two years later the former Miss Anna Gould became the wife of the Duke de Talland-Perigord, Prince de Sagan, a distant relative of Count de Castellane.

DO NOT BELIEVE THE REPORTED DEATH OF BRO. JOSEPH DUTTON

Friends in Janesville Received New Years Greetings From Brother Dutton by Mail Yesterday.

Much doubt is expressed as to the authenticity of the report that Brother Joseph Dutton has passed away in the leper colony at Molokai. Mrs. A. C. Campbell, who resides on South High street, received New Years cards from his on Tuesday which were mailed January 7th, written in the same firm hand writing he always used and Halvor Skavalem also received cards from him, dated January 4th, which indicated no illness of any sort. The report from New York stated he died of leprosy but this his friends deny and in a letter, published in the Gazette last spring, Brother Joseph himself denied the report over his own signature. While it may be possible that he has passed to the world beyond, still no authentic report has been published by the Associated Press, the only statement of his death coming from a news bureau in New York City, the same which a year ago sent out the cables he was suffering from leprosy which was later denied. Brother Joseph is not a Catholic priest, but a lay brother and a regular priest is stationed at

CITY SERVES NOTICE ON RATE COMMISSION

READY TO HAVE A VALUATION MADE OF THE JANESVILLE WATERWORKS.

RESOLUTION IS PASSED

By City Council Yesterday Afternoon Informs of Determination to Purchase System.

By a resolution passed at its meeting yesterday afternoon the City Council informed the Wisconsin Railroad Commission and the Janesville Water Company that the city is ready to have a valuation made of the city waterworks. Copies of the resolution have been mailed by the clerk to both the commission and the water company, and it is expected that action on the notice of the city will be taken within a comparatively short time. Some doubt of the legality of the waterworks referendum has been entertained because of the fact that the question submitted read, "Shall the city of Janesville purchase the Janesville Water Company?" Instead of "the Janesville Waterworks," but the Railroad Commission decided in the case of a similar referendum taken at Racine that the submission of the question of purchase in that form did not make the referendum invalid. The decision was also to the effect that the mode and manner of paying for the plant need not be stated in the ballot at the time the electors decided to purchase and it was not necessary to arrange for a fund until after valuation. The election might be held under the Public Utilities law and other statutes governing elections did not apply.

The resolution as passed by the Janesville Council is as follows.
State of Wisconsin

Before the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin

In the Matter of the Proposed Purchase of the plant of the Janesville Water Company by the City of Janesville.

WHEREAS the city of Janesville has determined to acquire the water plant of the Janesville Water Company, which said determination was made by the votes of a majority of the electors of the city of Janesville, voting on said question at the general spring election held in the said city on the second day of April, A. D. 1912, at which election the question of the purchase of said plant was duly submitted and

WHEREAS the Janesville Water Company was at the time of the said election and determination operating under an indeterminate permit under and in accordance with the provisions of the Public Utility law has by reason of such permit consented to the taking over of such plant by the said city of Janesville;

THEREFORE be it
RESOLVED that the City Clerk be and is hereby directed to give notice of such determination and of such consent to the Janesville Water Company and to the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin in pursuance of the provisions of Section 1797M-81 of the Revised Statutes of Wisconsin for 1911 and that the said notice be served by mailing a copy thereof to the said Railroad Commission of Wisconsin and a copy to the Janesville Water Company. Resolution read by Councilman Milmore and adopted this twenty-first day of January, 1913.

Signed:
Mayor James A. Patheas,
Councilman R. M. Cummings,
Councilman C. K. Milmore,
City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund.

CLOTHING PROCURED FOR NEEDY PATIENTS

Donations Made on Recommendation of Visiting Nurse—Needed For Outdoor Treatment.

Donations of clothing for the needy tubercular and children not provided with sufficient protection from the winter's cold are being made in liberal quantities at the recommendation of the City Visiting Nurse, Miss Agnes Anderson. Five children and three adults have been cared for thus far, the latter being fitted out with complete outfits. The tubercular patients need to be very warmly clothed as they have been instructed to spend as much time as possible out-of-doors. If they are not able to work or walk they are bundled up in a chair. The donations of clothing are being received at the office of the city nurse in the city hall and the visiting nurse will be glad to communicate with those who wish to contribute. Heavy wraps and flannels are needed by many of the patients.

The Associated Charities has undertaken the provision of milk and eggs for the needy tubercular patients and Poor Master Anderson pays for the prescriptions for them on the recommendation of the visiting nurse or County Physician Dr. Charles Sutherland.

The visiting nurse is making an average of seventeen calls a day. Seven of these are on tubercular patients and the rest on school children that the medical inspections made have shown in need of attention. The length of the calls is dependent upon whether the patient needs care or merely instruction. The nurse finds that there are more advanced than incipient cases in the city. It is very difficult to prevent contagion when an advanced case is cared for in the home through precautionary measures can be taken.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Helped Out Horse: Members of the fire department were called out yesterday morning to help out a horse that had fallen into a cistern at the home of Dr. F. R. Loomis, 505 North Washington street. The horse was rescued unharmed from its precarious position.

Repeater Still Missing: The "repeater" of the fire alarm system, which was sent away for repairs two months ago has not yet been returned from the factory at Newton Falls, Mass. The factory has been crowded with work but promises to return the instrument to this city the first of next month. The fire alarm system is in an unreliable condition as long as it is away and Chief Klein advises those using the alarm system to follow up with a telephone alarm as a matter of precaution.

No Lodgers Housed: No drunks or lodgers were cared for at the police station last night and no cases were brought up for trial in the municipal court this morning. Hardly a night has passed since cold weather set in without one and oftener more lodgers being taken in.

Desires Information: William Netz, city clerk at Portage, has written City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund for a copy of the city ordinance regulating the sale of fuel, such as wood, also a copy of any city ordinance supplementing the state weights and measures law.

Breeder at Delavan, Wis., Says Gospel of Kindness Will Pay Big in The Dairy Business.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—"Speak to a cow as you would to a lady"—the motto of an early Wisconsin dairyman—is also the message of Malcolm H. Gardner of Delavan, Wis., superintendent of the Advanced Registry Holstein-Friesian Association of America, who will be one of the speakers at the annual meetings of Wisconsin livestock breeders' association here in February. Gardner has written a series of injunctions to milkers and will spread the gospel of kindness to kine in his addresses to the Wisconsin farmers.

"If a person desires to install a music box in his stable," runs the Gardner philosophy, "it may be that it will work all right, but the less of singing, whistling and loud talking there is, the better it will be. Indeed, talking of all kinds except the low spoken, soothing words of the milkmaid to the cow should be prohibited. No man who hates milking and dislikes cows can make any great success; these must be sympathy between the cow and the milkmaid. Motherhood and milk production go together. Treat the cow like a mother. Be kind; it will pay and pay big."

The "personal equation," according to Mr. Gardner, represented by the regard the cow has for her attendant, gives hand milking an advantage over the machine. There is usually a vast difference in results, he says, between the milk which gets a cow into position by pushing the leg of a stool into her flank and then kicks her on the shin to make her step back, and the man who gains the same end with patience and gentleness.

"Who can blame the cow for wanting to kick the first man?" he says. Mr. Gardner attended Beloit College.

FORMER JOHNSTOWN WOMAN DIES AT WHITEWATER HOME

Funeral Services for Mrs. Andrenia Holverson Held on Monday—
—Other News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Johnstown, Jan. 22.—Mrs. Jones received the sad message that Mrs. Andrenia Holverson had passed away Friday morning, January 17th, at her home in Whitewater. She spent her girlhood days here. After her marriage she still remained in Johnstown until two years ago when she moved to Whitewater. In early life she united with the Methodist church at Richmond. She is survived by one brother, Andrew Hanson of Richmond, and four nieces: Clara Schaefer, Hannah Maase of Johnstown, Julia Anderson of St. Paul and Emma Anderson of Richmond. The funeral was held Monday from the home, Rev. Spray officiating, with burial in the family lot at Richmond.

For the past six years she has suffered from a lingering illness, but was confined to her bed only a week. Mrs. Holverson was a woman loved by all who came to know her, always ready to lend a helping hand for the good of others. She lived a consistent Christian life; although a great sufferer she never complained in any way of her afflictions and was patient until the end.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE ONION.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE onion is a highly-scented member of the vegetable family which can be used to good advantage either as medicine or perfume. It is one of the cheapest and most lasting perfumes on the market, and can be recognized without any difficulty at a distance of eighty rods.

The greatest delicacy in the line of spring vegetables is the young onion, which is picked in infancy before it has had time to grow any teeth, and therefore can neither bite the tongue nor irritate the eyeballs. Young onions are eaten with the utmost abandon by people who have been crowded out of the social whirl by their table manners or methods of maltreating the English language.

Onions become old but never weak or decrepit. When an onion gets well along in years, it is sliced thin and eaten raw by epicures who are trying to forget the taste of something else. An aged, high-spirited onion, eaten at the close of each meal, will cause a man to regret having complained about the pie crust or other crimes committed with leafy food.

Physicians prefer to prescribe the deep-chested Bermuda onion for medicinal purposes, as it can scent a microbe before it gets anywhere near it. Some people who are full of modern microbes and ancient prejudices prefer to go around in the company of deadly germs rather than eat three large, white onions a day, when they could be cured without incurring the venereal taint of those who live in the same block. The raw onion makes a fine poultice, as it has a draught like a hot-blast stove in a high wind.

The boiled onion is another fragrant bon bon which sweetens home life and inserts its languorous presence into the guest chamber. In order to boil an onion successfully it should first be killed and buried in wood ashes for three or four days, after which it should be cooked with the front and back doors open. When father returns home for dinner, the boiled onion will run out to meet him two blocks down the street and remind him of an engagement to eat with some traveling man down town.

WE COMING DAY
We loaf today, and we shall loaf tomorrow, hard by the pump or in the corner store; there'll come a day when we'll look back with sorrow on wasted hours, the hours that come no more. We say harsh things to friends who look for kindness, and bring the tears to loving, patient eyes; we scold and quarrel in our fretful blindness, instead of smiles we call up mournful sighs. Our friends will tread the path that leads us only to rest and silence in the grass-grown grave there'll come a day when weary, sad and lonely, we'll think of them and of the wounds we gave. In marts of trade we're prone to overreaching, to swell our roll we cheat and deal in lies, forgetful oft of early mortal teaching, and all the counsel of the good and wise. It is, alas, an evil road we travel, that leads at last to bitterness and woe; there'll come a day when gold will seem as gravel, and we shall mourn the sins of long ago.

Get Rid of All Indigestion

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

A Day's Work Is so Much Play to the Man With a Stomach Kept Right With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and their composition has been approved by the highest authorities.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is known among physicians as the most powerful of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 30 cents a box and are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. He picked up his glove, undid the reins from Vasson's stiffened fingers, and urged the horse forward. Carroll lurched drunkenly in the saddle, yet retained sufficient life to cling to the pommel, and thus the outfit plunged blindly forward into the storm, leaving the dead men where they lay. There was nothing else to do; Hamlin's heart choked him as he plowed his way past, but he had no strength to lift those heavy bodies. Every ounce of power must be conserved for the preservation of life. Little as he could see through the snow blasts there was but one means of passage, that along the narrow rift between the ridges. The snow lay deep here, but they floundered ahead, barely able to surmount the drifts, until suddenly they emerged upon an open space, sheltered somewhat by the low hills and swept clean by the wind. Directly beneath, down a wide cleft in the bank, dimly visible, appeared the welcome waters of the Cimarron. The stream was but partly frozen over, the dark current flowing in odd contrast between the banks of ice and snow.

The Sergeant halted, examining his surroundings cautiously, expecting every instant to be fired upon by some unseen foe. The violence of the storm prevented his seeing beyond a few yards, and the whirling snow crystals blinded him as he faced the fury of the wind sweeping down the valley. Nothing met his gaze; no sound reached his ears; about him was desolation, unbroken whiteness. Apparently they were alone in all that intense dreariness of snow. The solemn loneliness of it—the dark, silently flowing river, the dim sky, the wide, white expanse of plain, the mad violence of the storm beating against him—brought to him a feeling of helplessness. He was a mere atom, struggling alone against Nature's wild mood. Then the feeling clutched him that he was not alone; that from somewhere amid those barren wastes hostile eyes watched, skulking murderers sought his life. Yet there was no sign of any presence. He could not stand there and die, nor permit Carroll to freeze in his saddle. It would be better to take a chance; perhaps they had become confused by the storm.

Foot by foot, feeling his passage, he advanced down the gully, fairly dragging his own horse after him. Behind, held by the straining lariat, lurched the others, the soldier swaying on the back of the last, swearing and laughing in delirium, clutching at snowdrifts with his hands. At the end of the ravine, under shelter of the bank, Hamlin tramped back the snow, herding the animals close, so as to gain the warmth of their bodies. Here they were well protected from the cruel lash of the wind and the shower of snow which blew over them and drifted higher and higher in the “I’ll get you for that, you big boob!” he shouted, striving to release his arms from the clinging blankets. “You wait! I’ll get you!”

“Hush up, George, and go to sleep,” the other retorted, poking the shapeless body with his foot, his thoughts already elsewhere. “Don’t be a fool. I’ll get a fire if I can, and something hot into you. Within an hour you’ll be a man again. Now see here—stop that! Do you hear? You lie still right where you are, Carroll, until I come back, or I’ll kick your ribs in!” He bent down menacingly, scowling into the upturned face. “Will you mind, or shall I have to hand you one?”

Carroll shrank back like a whipped child, his lips muttering something indistinguishable. The sergeant, satisfied, turned and floundered through the drifts to the bank of the stream. He was alert and fearful, yet determined. No matter what danger of discovery might threaten, he must build a fire to save Carroll’s life. The raging storm was not over with; there was no apparent cessation of violence in the blasts of the icy wind, and the snow swept about him in blinding sheets. It would continue all day, all another night, perhaps, and they could never live through without food and warmth. He realized the risk fully, his gloved hand gripping the butt of his revolver, as he stared up and down the snow-draped bluffs. He wished he had picked up Vasson’s rifle. Who was it that had shot them up, anyhow? The very mystery added to the dread. Could it have been Dupont? There was no other conception possible, yet it seemed like a miracle that they could have kept so close on the fellow’s trail all night long through the storm. Yet who else would open fire at sight? Who else, indeed, would be in this God-forsaken country? And whoever it was, where had he gone? How had he disappeared so suddenly and completely? He could not be far away, that was a certainty. No plainsman would attempt to ford that icy stream, nor desert the shelter of these bluffs in face of the storm. It would be suicidal. And if Dupont and his Indians were close at hand, Miss McDonald would be with them. He had had no time in which to reason this out before, but now the swift realization of the close proximity of the girl came to him like an electric shock. Whatever the immediate danger he must throw out Carroll, and thus be free himself.

He could look back to where the weary horses huddled beneath the bank, grouped about the man so helplessly swaddled in blankets on the ground. They were dim, pitiable objects, barely discernible through the flying sleet, yet Hamlin was quick to perceive the advantage of their position—the overhanging bluff was complete protection from any attack except within the open bank of the river. Two armed men could defend the spot against odds. And below, a hundred yards away, perhaps—it was hard to judge through that smother—the bare limbs of several stunted cottonwoods waved dismally against the gray sky. Flattening his eyes searching the barrenness above to where the stream beat northward and disappeared, he turned at last and tramped downward along the edge of the stream. Across stretched the level, white prairie, beaten and obscured by the storm, while to his left rose the steep, bare bluff, swept clear by the wind, revealing its ugliness through the haze of snow. Not in all the expanse was there visible a moving object nor track of any kind. He was alone, in the midst of indescribable desolation—a cold, dead, dreary landscape.

He came to the little patch of forest growth, a dozen gaunt, naked trees at the river’s edge, stunted, two of them already toppling over the bank, apparently undermined by the water, threatening to fall before each blast that smote them. Hoping to discover some splinters for a fire, Hamlin kicked a clear space in the snow, yet kept his face always toward the bluff, his eyes vigilantly searching for any skulking figure. Silent as those desert surroundings appeared, the sergeant knew he was not alone. He had a feeling that he was being watched, spied upon; that somewhere near at hand, crouching in that solitude, the eyes of murder followed his every movement. Suddenly he straightened up, staring at the bluff nearly opposite where he stood. Was it a dream, an illusion, or was that actually the front of a cabin at the base of the bank? He could not believe it possible, nor could he be sure. If so, then it consisted merely of a room excavated in the side of the hill, the opening closed in by cottonwood logs. It in no way extended outward beyond the contour of the bank, and was so plastered with snow as to be almost indistinguishable a dozen steps away. Yet those were logs, regularly laid, beyond a doubt; he was certain he detected now the dim outlines of a door, and a smooth wooden shutter, to which the snow refused to cling, the size and shape of a small window. His heart throbbing with excitement, the Sergeant slipped in against the bluff for protection, moving cautiously closer until he convinced himself of the reality of his strange discovery by feeling the rough bark of the logs. It was a form of habitation of some kind beyond question; apparently unoccupied, for there were no tracks in the snow without, and no smoke of a fire visible anywhere.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Hughes’ Story.

Hamlin thrust his glove into his belt, drew forth his revolver, and gripped its stock with bare hand. This odd, hidden dwelling might be deserted, a mere empty shack, but he could not disconnect it in his mind from that murderous attack made upon their little party two hours before. Why was it here in the heart of this desert? Why built with such evident intent of concealment? But for what had occurred on the plateau above, his suspicions would never have been aroused. This was already becoming a cattle country; adventurous Texans, seeking free ranges and abundant water, had advanced along all these prominent streams with their grazing herds of long-horns. Little by little they had gained precarious foothold on the Indian domains, slowly forging the savages westward. The struggle had been continuous for years, and the final result inevitable. Yet this year the story had been a different one, for the united tribes had swept the invading stockmen back, had butchered their cattle, and once again roamed these plains as masters. Hamlin knew this; he had met and talked with those driven out, and he was aware that even now Black Kettle’s winter camp of hostiles was not far away. This hut might, of course, be the deserted site of some old cow camp, some outsider’s shack, but—the fellow who fired on them! He was a reality—a dangerous reality—and he was hiding somewhere close at hand.

The sergeant stole along the front to the door, listening intently for any warning sound from either without or within. Every nerve was on edge; all else forgotten except the intensity of the moment. He could perceive nothing to alarm him, no evidence of any presence inside. Slowly, noiselessly, his Colt poised for instant action, he lifted the wooden latch, and permitted the door to swing slightly ajar, yielding a glimpse within. There was light from above, filtering dimly through some crevice in the bluff, and the darker shadows were reddened by the cheery glow of a fire place directly opposite, although where the smoke disappeared was not at first evident. Hamlin perceived these features at a glance, standing motionless. His quick eyes visioned the whole interior—a rude table and bench, a rifle leaning in one corner, a saddle and trapings hanging against the wall; a broad-brimmed hat on the floor, a pile of skins beyond. There was an appearance of neatness also, the floor swept, the table uncluttered. Yet he scarcely realized these details at the time so closely was his whole attention centered on the figure of a man. The fellow occupied a stool before the fireplace, and was bending slightly forward, staring down at the red embers, unconscious of the intruder. He was a thin-chested, unkempt individual with long hair, and shaggy whiskers, both iron gray. The side of his face and neck had a sallow look, while his nose was prominent. The sergeant surveyed him a moment, his cocked revolver covering the motionless figure, his lips set grimly. Then he stepped within and closed the door.

At the slight sound the other leaped to his feet, overturning the stool, and whirled about swiftly, his right hand dropping to his belt.

“That will do, friend!” Hamlin’s voice rang stern.

“Stand as you are—your gun is lying on the bench yonder. Rather careless of you in this country. No, I wouldn’t risk it if I was you; this is a hair trigger.”

The fellow stared helpless into the Sergeant’s gray eyes.

“Who—who the hell are you?” he managed to articulate hoarsely, “a soldier?”

Hamlin nodded, willing enough to let the other talk.

“You’re—you’re not one o’ LeFevre’s outfit?”

“Whose?”

“Gene LeFevre—the damn skunk; you know him?”

Startled as he was, the sergeant held himself firm, and laughed.

FULTON

Fulton Jan. 21.—Mrs. Charles Spike visited at her brother’s, Frank Pearson’s, part of last week. Lawrence Kramer of Hanley Brothers, Janesville, returned to Janesville Saturday after taking a two weeks’ lay-off on account of sickness at home.

T. S. Biggar of Walkerville, Canada, is visiting his father and sister at Fulton.

Miss Charity Windsor, primary teacher in the state graded school here, visited her relatives in Evansville Sunday.

Amos Hanson visited his little daughter near Evansville on Monday. Claude Morrel of Chicago was visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Murwin last week.

S. H. Bentley is home for a short stay.

Clara O’Berg of Evansville is visiting her sister, Jennie O’Berg.

O. P. Murwin transacted business at the state superintendent’s office in Madison on Tuesday.

A packed house greeted the Cosmopolitan for the third number of the lecture course last Friday evening. The last number will be in April.

Lucilla Post was a Madison visitor last week.

Miss Astella Attiecy visited friends in Newville on Sunday.

Charles Murwin and niece, Cora, called on Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lease on Saturday.

Mrs. A. P. Murwin received the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. M. J. Pretejohn on Friday at her home in Livonia, N. Y.

Mrs. Pretejohn, when visiting her sister here, made many friends who will mourn her death.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards’ Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients. These Olive Tablets oil the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That’s why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

“Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own.” Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

NEED EXERCISE FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Prof. Buell gave a fifteen minute talk this morning to the high school students on “Public Health.” He mentioned the fact that the children in the lower grades are in better health because they are outdoors most of the time. When they arrive in high school, it is slow there dignity to play tag, and crack the whip, and so to keep up the much needed exercise, gymnasium work it applied to serve the purpose. The talk concerned more the girls, than the boys. Mr. Buell expects to give short talks on the topic at various times to keep the student interest along this line.

WILL HONOR GIRL WHO MADE FIRST TEXAS FLAG

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Ft. Valley, Ga., Jan. 22.—The girl who made the first Texas flag, when that state was an independent republic, lies buried in a neglected grave near here. Arrangements have been made by a commissioner sent by Governor Colquitt of Texas for the removal of the remains to Austin, where they will be received with all honor. Miss Joanna Troutman in 1836, then a girl of 18, fashioned the Lone Star flag which is still the state emblem of Texas. The present session of the Texas legislature is expected to appropriate funds for the removal of the body and the erection of a monument over the grave in the state cemetery at Austin, where rest the remains of many famous Texans.

For a Good Digestion

A Local Druggist’s Suggestion.
It has been said the body is like a machine and digestion and elimination of food are the two great factors to health.

If the digestive organs are weak, the stomach overtaxed, waste matter accumulates in the system—the liver gets sluggish and the blood becomes thin and devalitized.

We want to ask every person in this vicinity who is troubled with indigestion or a weak worn-out stomach to try our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol.

We know it will strengthen and tone up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs, create a hearty appetite, and replace weakness with strength.

We just heard of a case of a man in Oneonta, N. Y., who suffered from a bad stomach trouble for fifteen years and had become so weak he could hardly walk—who was cured by Vinol.

Try a bottle of Vinol and if it fails to help you we will give back your money. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

LEGAL BARRIER WAS RAISED BY EKERN'S ATTORNEY IN TIME

barricaded the door to an inner office, accessible from the corridor. Essmann again left, leaving the blue coats on guard in the main office. From many quarters throughout the statehouse the newspaper writers hurried to the first floor of the north wing. The news of the "attack" had spread like wildfire.

What occurred in the private office of Insurance Commissioner Ekern yesterday afternoon while capitol blue coats were bombarding the doors to eject the little commissioner became known today through piecemeal conversations with Assemblymen L. L. Johnson and August Heden, who with Deputy Commissioner George E. Beede were locked in the room with Ekern.

It was 2:30 o'clock when William L. Essmann, superintendent of public property, accompanied by L. A. Anderson, Governor McGovern's appointee as insurance commissioner, walked into the commissioner's private office. Mr. Ekern was in the further end of the room talking with Assemblymen Johnson and Heden on proposed insurance legislation. Mr. Anderson greeted all present, shook hands with Mr. Ekern, and asked to be introduced to Assemblyman Heden.

Demands Possession.

Meantime Ekern slipped around to his seat and Anderson, seeing this, stepped in front of Ekern's desk and stated that he had filed his oath and bond as commissioner of insurance, and demanded possession of the records of the office. To this Mr. Ekern replied that he was the commissioner of insurance; that the state did not provide that there should be two commissioners, and that there was no vacancy (and that he refused to recognize any right on the part of Mr. Anderson. The latter said he hoped Ekern would make it easy for him and he would make no trouble. To this Ekern replied that there was nothing to have any trouble about, and if he had any rights in the office he would have to establish them in the courts. Anderson then turned to Superintendent Essmann and demanded that he be given quarters in the capitol as commissioner of insurance. Essmann stated that he would give Mr. Anderson these quarters and demanded that Ekern vacate the office. This Ekern refused to do, and Mr. Essmann then threatened to employ force, saying he would call the capitol police to assist in putting Ekern out.

Orders of Governor.

"I am sorry to do this," said Essmann, "but I am acting under orders of the governor." Ekern replied, according to an eye witness, that Essmann had no right to interfere with him in the discharge of his duties, and that anyone taking any part in any action or attempting to assault him would be guilty of an offense and would be held strictly to account. Essmann parleyed a few moments longer and when he left the office he declared he would be back in a few minutes with the capitol police. Anderson remained in the private office.

Here a clever ruse was executed by Commissioner Ekern, upon Mr. Anderson which resulted in Anderson being despatched to the outer office and the door closed and locked. Ekern first asked Anderson if he would kindly step out as he had some private business to transact with the men then in the office. With all courtesy Anderson hurried to the door, only to hear it close behind him and the lock click. In the meantime Ekern's attorneys had been notified by telephone. Soon after Mr. Essmann appeared in the general office of the department and rapped on the door of the private office. Mr. Ekern asked who was there, and received no answer, and Essmann went away. A considerable time then intervened.

Pleads For Entrance.

Meanwhile Essmann called Ekern on the telephone and demanded entrance to the office, which Ekern again refused. Those inside of the office say that Essmann pleaded with Ekern to make it easy for him to gain entrance. Ekern told Essmann that he (Essmann) would be held "strictly responsible for any offense that you commit." Soon afterwards, Essmann went into a small office adjoining Ekern's private office and demanded admission. Essmann now saw that the doors would have to be forced and used every means possible to screen out the general public. Ekern demanded why he wanted admission, and L. L. Johnson claims that Essmann answered: "To put you out."

During all this time a lively scene was being enacted within the commissioner's private office. Ekern removed the typewriter from a desk in front of the door where he believed the capitol police would make their attack. He shoved his heavy oak desk which he used for personal use in the private office and tightly against the typewriter desk, making an effectual barricade and brace for the door. By this time Essmann's five policemen had arrived.

Break Through Door.

By means of heavy books, the glass panels of the door were smashed and the lock forced, but they were unable to get the door open on account of inability to push the heavy desk aside from their vantage point.

According to witnesses, Essmann and the policemen then tried to break the door down. Finally they secured window poles and attempted to pry it open. But as each device failed, they sent one of the officers to the basement to secure a crowbar.

Had the superintendent of public property thought of cutting the telephone wires, Ekern would have been hampered in communicating with his attorneys and others. All the time that the glass was flying, Ekern was urging his attorneys to hurry the injunction papers, as the siege was beginning to look serious. Johnson claims that at this juncture, Ekern served notice upon the policemen outside that "those attempting to break in with an intent to commit an assault upon me are committing burglary punishable by imprisonment in the state prison."

TODAY'S EDGERTON NEWS

INSTALL OFFICERS OF EDGERTON W. R. C.

Interesting Ceremony Followed by Chicken Pie Supper at Lodge Rooms Last Evening.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, Jan. 22.—Tuesday evening of this week the members of the W. R. C. and invited guests held installation of officers at their lodge rooms. Mrs. Fannie Sutton in a complimentary manner installed the officers-elect and Miss Alice Barnes very efficiently acted as installing officer. At the close of the installation services hand painted plates were presented to the retiring president, Mrs. Maud Lackner, secretary, Mrs. Hattie Tyler and treasurer, Mrs. Fannie Sutton, for which the ladies responded very graciously. For the good of the order Mrs. Gertrude McCarthy gave a reading which was heartily received. At the close of the exercises a chicken pie supper was served. Following are the officers for the ensuing year: President—Mrs. Lizzie Williams; senior vice president—Mrs. Martha Dickerson; treasurer—Mrs. Jennie Wilman; secretary—Nellie Williams; chaplain—Mrs. Fannie Sutton; conductor—Miss Alice Barnes; assistant conductor—Mrs. Lucy Collins; past instructor—Mrs. Lilla Clarke; press correspondent—Mrs. Jennie Palmer; auditor—Mrs. Katie Schmidt; guard—Mrs. Anna Lyons; assistant guard—Mrs. Tillie Davis; first color bearer—ishable by imprisonment in the state prison."

Serve Injunction Papers.

Ekern was holding down the desk when the men arrived outside with the iron crowbar. At this very moment Attorney John A. Aylward, one of Ekern's counsel, and Undersheriff William Klusmann arrived. The order of injunction was quickly served upon L. A. Anderson, who evidently was taken completely by surprise. In stenographic evidence, Aylward asked to be admitted to the private office, and as Ekern recognized the voice and admitted him Aylward called out, "The sheriff is here." Klusmann slipped around to the side office with Aylward, was admitted, and served the papers on Essmann, who immediately told his men to desist. Late in the day the paper was served upon Governor McGovern by Undersheriff Klusmann.

Ekern Resumes Work.

Within five minutes after the siege Ekern was again transacting the business of the office. L. L. Johnson says that within a very few moments after the papers had been served, two representatives of an Ohio insurance company came in to arrange for an examination and admission of the company, which matter was attended to, and soon afterwards Commissioner Ekern signed an order approving the incorporation of a new employers' liability company of this state. Julius E. Roehr of Milwaukee, former state senator, appeared for one of these companies.

Within a few minutes the broken glass and wood had been cleared away by employees, and Ekern was proceeding to dictate delayed correspondence. Anderson retired to his old desk in the actual room, but was soon afterwards called away.

Essmann Slightly Hurt.

During the bombardment of the glass door, Superintendent Essmann sustained a cut on the hand from the falling glass. Cotton banding was brought to stop the flow of blood.

Not since the ejection of State Treasurer John J. Kempf in 1903 has excitement over possession of state office been so intense at the capitol. The present case owing to the show of force used, exceeded the former incident in point of public interest.

MRS. WILSON'S RECIPE SUGAR CURED HAM.

"Georgia baked ham" is a standard southern dish. Here is how Mrs. Woodrow Wilson prepares the dish for her husband, the president-elect, the recipe being taken from her private cook book.

Select a small ham. Wash thoroughly in cold water and cover with a layer of baking soda, which scrub into the ham with a brush. Then rinse off and trim neatly and place in a bake pan. Mix the seasoning, consisting of half a teaspoonful each of cloves, cinnamon, celery seed and pepper. Put the whole into the surface of the ham and then cover with a very thick layer of onion, minced fine.

Cover the whole with a layer of pastry made by mixing smoothly a cup of sifted flour in a cup of water. This pastry is rolled out thin and then wound about the ham closely. The bake pan is then filled with boiled cider and placed in the oven to bake slowly and steadily for four hours, with frequent basting from the cider. Serve with candied sweet potatoes, baked squash and spinach done in butter with a relish of apple sauce.

Not for Charity.

Smythe—Yes, we had a good day's sport yesterday. Jennings got a big bag and sent it to the hospital. Brownie—Oh, yes, what did he get? Smythe—A gamekeeper.

A Mid-winter Rest

IUST about now most of us are beginning to feel, and perhaps to show through the medium of rasped nerves, the strain of the season. Whether we are a bread-winner in the marts of the world, a worker in the home, or a society butterfly, the pace during the past month or so, has been fast and furious. And it has taken on many of us. We feel tired. Life has lost its savor. We wake in the morning unrefreshed, and think what wouldn't we give to be able to lie longer and rest. But the thought of duties pressing is already goading us, and we crawl out and languidly go to our tasks.

But this is not the way to live life, if it can be helped. And with many of us a very simple remedy is right at hand, if we will pluck up resolution enough to take it. And this medicine, that will once more give us appetite for the duties at hand, is a little holiday.

Nearly everybody nowadays takes a vacation in the summer. But many need a vacation in mid-winter.

The mid-winter vacation need not assume the proportion or importance of the summer holiday. With many this would be impossible; and to undertake to do it in this way would simply mean it must be cut out altogether. But some little change or outing, if only a week-end, could be taken by many. And it is decidedly worth while.

To run off to the shore or to some restful inland resort for a week-end will do wonders in changing one's outlook on life, when one has dropped in to the "life-is-terrible" attitude. The business man or woman especially needs this change; but so also does the mistress of the home, tied to a monotonous round and many little irritating cares.

The English are much ahead of us in this understanding of the value of these little resting and relaxing spells. They are a week-end nation. And they are a big, hearty, calm people compared to the hurrying and hurried American.

One should not make a burden of such a trip. One should simply take what one has in the way of wearing apparel, throw care to the winds, and go off and play.

And if we will do this, when we come back, what was difficult will be easy, and what seemed a mountain of work will be only a molehill. It will be good to be alive, and we can face each day with good relish for the duties that wait.

And if a little holiday can bring this about, will it not pay to take it?

Barbara Boyd.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Age 24—a bit of education—temperate habits—moderate salary—good chances for promotion ($75 now)—suffering from the ravages of love. The girl has promised to marry me, wears a healthy diamond and accepts gifts freely, but will not allow me to express her. Awful! Her people dislike me. She says she loves me. The above makes it look rather shaky, though. Don't you think I had better abandon the chase? I never go with other girls.

ROY.
Young man, if she loves you she'll want you to kiss her—lots. She'll also enjoy a few hugs, if she's a normal girl. If she's a good girl she won't stand for too much of that sort of thing, of course, but she can't be human and not want to be petted by the man she loves.

Suppose you stay away from her for a while, stop giving her things and let her think you are growing indifferent. That will bring out whether she loves you or not.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 20, good looking and dress "classy." All the young men I met would take me out once and never call again. I never seemed to make a "hit," though they termed me "clever" and "entertaining." Some of my girl friends told me to be "real spooony" and I would make a hit. So I decided to be "real spooony" and I have become terribly popular, have had three proposals and one fellow has gone so far as to buy a diamond for me, but which I refused to accept. Almost every day one of the fellows has asked me for steady company.

I am now going with a nice fellow of 23, of a wealthy and honorable family. Recently I decided not to be spooony any more and my popularity has died. Even the fellow I am going with is slowly letting me drop, when he was just on the verge of proposing. I love him and hate to let him go. What shall I do? Continue to be "spooony" and be popular, and have good times? Or not, and have to sit around evenings all alone while the rest of the girls have good times? I will decide by your advice.

MISS C. B.
I judge that you stopped being spooony because you really loved this young man and want to be worthy of a good man. Isn't it so, my dear? A really good man doesn't want a girl who has been pawed over by every other man she knows, and I think I'd rather know I was worthy of such a man, even though it was an old maid of me, than to lose the whiteness of my womanhood just to be popular and have good times.

Moreover, do you think that the man who loves you only because you are popular with other men, will "stick" after marriage? He'll probably leave you sitting alone at home while he goes off after some other girl who is spooony and popular with the fellows.

I know that a great many young men prefer the spooony girls and that girls spoon with them in order to appear popular. But the girl who does it is cheap, and when she marries she will be held cheap by her husband—unless he is conceited enough and she is clever enough to make him think that she never spooned with anybody else but him.

You must let your own judgment decide whether you want a husband through such means, or whether you will be a self-respecting woman looking for something bigger and finer than parties and theatres and the attentions of silly fellows who don't make good husbands.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The Table.
Attractive Dish—Cut carrots in small pieces and boil in salt water till tender. Add to creamed peas and see how good it tastes and looks.
Baked Beans With Chili Sauce—Wash beans and put them to soak the night before. In the morning cook until nearly done, then add salt, pepper and little sugar. Slice a couple large pieces of side meat in and put in chili cause to suit taste. To a common coffee cup of beans (before cooked) I put in about a teaspoon of sauce.

Jam Pudding—Take seven table-spoons flour, six ounces suet (well chopped), one teaspoon baking powder, a pinch of salt. Mix well and make into a paste. Line well-greased basin with the paste level with outside edge, and pour a good teaspoonful of any kind of jam at the bottom of basin. Next roll a little round of paste and put on top of jam, then more paste and more jam, till basin is full. Bring the piece of paste which lined the basin well over the top layer of paste; nip the edges together; well flour a pudding bag, tie up, and boil two hours. Turn it out when cooked and it will be found a great improvement on the ordinary jamroll, no jam being lost.

To Clean Delicate Fabrics.
This preparation will not fade colors or injure delicate fabrics.

Grate raw potatoes to a fine pulp; add one pint water to one pound potato. Pass this liquor through a fine sieve and cloth. Let it remain in a vessel until the fine white starch settles to the bottom; then pour off the clear liquor, which is to be used for cleaning.

For white silk, add a little borax. For dresses and waists dip a sponge in the liquor and apply it until dirt is removed. Rinse in tepid water and iron on wrong side.

Opera and party dresses and white cashmeres will clean beautifully by this process.

This is how I clean all my light ties and party dresses.

The KITCHEN CABINET

HERE is enough in daily life, a life so much beset with crosses, harsh and cruel deeds, to struggle to forget.

But there is nothing we can spare that's loving, comforting and fair. A word that comes to cheer us still. Some smile to lighten what is ill.

SOME GOOD WINTER PUDDINGS.

The heavier, richer puddings are more enjoyed during the cold weather and are also better served during the winter.

Pump Pudding.—Mix together a cup of bread crumbs, a cup of flour, three-fourths of a cup of sugar, a fourth of a cup of molasses, a cup of fruit, a cup of cold water, a teaspoonful each of soda and cinnamon. Steam one hour. Cream a half cup of butter, add a cup and a half of powdered sugar and the yolks of two eggs well beaten, for the sauce.

Krum Torte.—This is a most delicious pudding and one which will keep indefinitely.

Cut up a half pound of dates in small pieces, add a half pound of walnut meats cut up, a half pound of sugar, three table-spoonsful of bread crumbs, a teaspoonful of baking powder and the whites of six eggs beaten light. Add the sugar to the whites first and then the other ingredients. Bake in a large greased pan. Serve with whipped cream, a little mixed with the torte crumbed in pieces and the cream on top.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding.—Melt two squares of chocolate over hot water, beat an egg and add to a cup of milk, sift two cups of flour with three table-spoonsful of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Put into a buttered mold and steam one and a half hours. Serve with a creamy sauce. Use two table-spoonsful of soft butter, a cup of powdered sugar and a yolk of egg. Then stir in a half cup of whipped cream, flavored.

Nellie Maxwell.

Sometimes Doubtful.
"Do you think a college education pays?"

"Well, I must confess that there are times just after I have attended fraternity banquets, when I am inclined to think it doesn't."

Benefit.
"After all," remarked Mr. Growcher, "the trusts are of great benefit to the public."
"In what way?"
"They give people with family troubles something else to talk about."

The Emergencies in the Home.

AN "emergency shelf" has usually been considered only from one point of view, and that is a shelf or cupboard with plenty of food ready to cook quickly when company comes suddenly. There are a few other things which might disturb the hostess aside from lack of food, and that is clean linen and silver.

The silver used every day and washed in good hot soap suds and rinsed with plenty of hot water, does not need polishing very often. Keep some silver in reserve. It is better to have out of the cases only the number of pieces of flat silver necessary for every day use. There is less danger of its being lost, as each piece is more easily accounted for, and fresh, bright silver can be brought out at a moment's notice for the unexpected guest.

And, oh, the joy of linen, such as napkins, tablecloths, doilies, centerpieces, daintily embroidered, extra towels, and plenty of all these when the occasion demands. Sort out the ones to be used every day, and these are best of a German half-bleached, which wash, bleach, white, and iron with a beautiful gloss. Then the extra linen may be stored away, carefully washed and ironed, with special boxes for the smaller pieces and napkins and drawers for the tablecloths. Then, with immaculate linen and silver, the table neatly set, a hearty welcome given, and even a cup of tea will make your guests feel that they are truly welcome. But the careful hostess who has looked well after the above will be quite sure to have plenty in reserve on this "emergency shelf." Whenever there is a good sale on canned peas, tomatoes, etc., by the dozen cans, it certainly is good economy to buy.

I know I hear you say, "But I can't always afford it when I have the opportunity for bargains." Yes you can, if you think ahead. Don't spend that dollar and a quarter left over from your allowance last week; just save it for just such an "emergency." That is the way this shelf is kept supplied. Very few housekeepers feel that they can stock this up all at once, but add to it each day or week as you can.

Plenty of good seasoning is absolutely essential, such as bay leaves, kitchen bouquet, celery seed and salt, onion salt, cloves, garlic, cinnamon, sage, mustard, Worcestershire, nutmeg, capers, horseradish, tarragon vinegar, white pepper, paprika, pimientos, lemons, grated cheese, bread crumbs, canned salmon, sardines, anchovies, olives, pickles, peas, lima, kidney and string beans, corn, kornet, tomatoes, egg noodles, spaghetti, canned soup in small sizes, wafers salted and of the sweetened kind. These are only a few of the suggestive things, but with a small assortment of them always in the house, and with the fresh green vegetables and meat, which is included in the regular marketing, a hostess need have no fears when extra culinary feats are demanded in her home.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

"OURS" OR "HIS" AND "HERS."
A YOUNG married woman was offering an older woman the loan of a magazine.

"Are you sure your husband is through with it?" asked the older woman.

"Oh he doesn't read that," said the younger matron. "That's mine. Those are his magazines on the table."

"I must say I can't see used to your talk of 'his' and 'mine,'" said the woman of the older school. "In my day we used to call everything 'ours,' and it seems to me that word brought us closer together. Tell me, child, why should some of the magazines your husband buys be called his and some yours? Does he buy some of them especially for you?"

"No, he doesn't," said the "child" warmly. "He buys his own magazines and I buy mine."

The older woman smiled indulgently. "But it's all his money, isn't it?"

"It is not. My magazines are bought out of my allowance. No I won't call it that. Out of my salary that Fred pays me for doing my part of the home-making. Fred gives me half of what is left from household expenses and saying to me and keeps the rest. Now do you see any reason why I shouldn't call what I buy, mine, and what he buys, his?"

"Well, I don't know," said the woman of the older school, with the unconquered air of the woman convinced against her will. "It doesn't seem to me as if married people ought to be able to have a common purse without quarreling over it. I know I'm old-fashioned, but I do like the word 'ours,' and I think a home has a better foundation when it's built on that word."

Whereupon the young married woman, realizing that they were traveling in circles, wisely changed the subject.

Which point of view appeals to you?

Which do you think is a better foundation for financial satisfaction in the home, an uncertain, indefinite "ours" (which is painfully likely to be a synonym for "his") or a straightforward square division into "his" and "hers?"

I don't suppose I need to tell you which way my sympathies lie. It is hard for an absolute monarch not to become a tyrant. It is hard for a man who is absolute master of the purse strings not to become tyrannical. And by tyrannical I do not necessarily mean stingy or selfish, but arbitrary and unreasonable. He may give with lavish generosity one day and grumble at being asked for a few cents another.

Absolute power is as bad for the ruler as the ruled.

Can the wife who has to ask her husband for the money with which to buy his Christmas present be as contented with her financial lot as the wife who is made financially independent by receiving a fair share of the surplus, he is ever so tiny, and who receives it not as an allowance given her out of her lord's kindness of heart, but as a well earned salary for her services as home maker?

IN GEORGIA JAIL PINES FOR BABIES

Mrs. Fairlee Wright, who last fall was arrested on the charge of being an accessory in one of the boldest and most atrocious murders ever committed in the north Georgia hill country, pines for her six children, whom she left alone in a rude cabin in the hills. Their father has deserted them. Mrs. Wright has not been permitted to leave the jail since her arrest, and the authorities are working to unearth further evidence against her.

MOVIE ACTRESS TO PLAY ON REAL STAGE

Little Viola Dana, called "The Bernhardt of the Kiddies," who has endeared herself to many by her splendid playing of "kid" parts in the "movies," will be seen in one of the biggest New York theaters soon. She has left moving pictures and will play the title role in "The Poor Little Rich Girl."

When Her Back Aches

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Janesville women know how the aches and pains that often come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, are frequent indications of weak kidneys and should be checked in time. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. They attack kidney diseases by striking at the cause.

Can Janesville sufferers desire stronger proof than this woman's words?

Mrs. J. Miller, East St., Clinton, Wis., says: "I have no hesitation whatever in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills for I received great benefit from them. I was subject to acute attacks of backache and I had headaches and dizzy spells. Last winter I was suffering intensely from these troubles and at that time Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention. This remedy helped me in every way and relieved all the symptoms of my complaint. Others of my family have profited by taking Doan's Kidney Pills."

Parcel Favor Mer

That the parcels postal favor is evidenced by the mail of this character from the local office since its inauguration; and that it is a fair competition with the other houses is the consequence of the parcels postal who are beginning to realize what it means.

Outgoing packages dispatched to other parts of the month of January weighed over a ton, and the time at the local postoffice. A record was kept of the inauguration of the system on January 1, and reports of the business have been sent to the postoffice for that period amounted to $514.80.

These reports show that during the first five months of the year, the aggregate of 2,526 pounds and in the local zone was forty-two and the total pieces of Parcels Post matter received from the local zone.

The Parcels Post system is coming into use in the local zone, and the first made tests of its efficiency are being made.

WHAT ARE UPPER WISCONSIN LANDS WORTH? Hon. Edward Nordman, member of the assembly from Langlade county, says in Madison Journal, January 16, 1913: "I have 60 acres under cultivation and it yields $2,000.00 a year." Allowing Mr. Nordman $600 for extra services when the grain farmer is idle, we have a return of $140 per acre. Dr. Hopkins, the greatest authority in the world (Soil Fertility and Permanent Agriculture, page 487) gives an elaborate table covering cost of cropping and maintaining fertility in which it is shown that lands producing $40 per acre in grains are worth over $400 per acre. This is the basis of land values in Illinois and other states. What then are upper Wisconsin lands worth. We shall be pleased to go fully into this matter with those who write us. GAZETTE WILL HAVE CORRECT MAPS.

There has been so much question regarding the correctness of the various parcels Post maps showing the units and zones that the Gazette has held off securing a supply for its patrons and friends until such time as it is certain that the government map and those made therefrom were correct.

Within a very short time the matter will be settled definitely and the Gazette will have maps to supply its patrons and friends with and will make the announcement as soon as such a map has been secured.

Auction Bills

The Printing Department of the Gazette is equipped with the very newest, latest type and material for producing auction sale bills. A well printed bill makes a better sale for you. Five line classified advertisement free in the Daily Gazette with each order of bills.

GAZETTE PRINTING DEPT.

PUBLIC NOTICE. Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper, and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

If you have house without a tenant spend 25c cents, and save a $10 or more in rent.

THE DAILY NOVELLETTE

IN FOR LIFE. "Forever and a day!" he said, "Forever and a day!"

Then clasped her to his manly breast And went on making hay."

She was only a simple city girl, and oh! how she longed for the trackless plains and billowy hills of the boundless West!

"Twas the dream of her young life. Yet was she only a simple city girl and, though beautiful as anything, she thought with some foreboding of the butter from butter-rotch trees.

She sighed for something different. She sighed for hills in the distance and horseback rides in the morning. She sighed for the WEST!

Thus it was that she promised the young man in the sombrero to be his. It could not be said that she loved him, for a girl cannot love a man whom she considers rather silly, unless he has lots of money and a few automobiles. Yet she promised to love, honor and cook till death parted in, for did he not wear a sombrero, and did he not live in Cheyenne? (See footnote.)

"It is not for love of you that I have promised to be yours," she told him quite frankly. "For I hate the sight of you. It is for love of the trackless hills and the bounding prairies. For heaven's sake, let's get it over with and move to that wonderful Cheyenne."

So they got it over with, and he took her with him to live in his home at Cheyenne, New Jersey.

(Footnote—He did.)

JAN. 22

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY An unpleasant journey is in store for you and disappointments will occur. You should guide your conduct with the greatest care and try to foresee events.

Those born today will have wandering dispositions and will be disinclined to make sustained efforts to accomplish anything. Only wise care and patient teaching will save these children from aimless frivolity and shallowness.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, January 22, 1873.—It is not certain that Mrs. Van Cott, the revivalist, will "revive" any in this city, but if she comes it will be after the first of April. Her time is all spoken for up to the year of 1875 and if she comes, it will be after the first of April. If she visits Janesville it will deprive some other locality, where there is more urgent need for her work. We would be pleased, of course, to have the eloquent lady hold a series of meetings in our city, but as we are favored by the presence of a wide-awake ministry, who are watchful of our spiritual interests, it would, perhaps, be selfish in us to insist on having Mrs. Van Cott come here when places like Beloit are in need of religious aid. We hope Mrs. Van Cott will go to Beloit and hold two or three meetings in the Beloit Free Press office. If she can reach Beloit citizens to love their enemies it will be better for us than to have her come here for they are bound to look upon us as a natural enemy.

Miss May Chapman lectures tonight and tomorrow at Laypin's hall.

Mr. Morgan's daughter, who was so seriously ill at the time of the burning of the Morgan House at Milton Junction, is better and hopes for her recovery are entertained.

J. B. Demster, in whom the Gazette readers are somewhat interested, departed for St. Paul last night.

The select school under the supervision of Mr. F. E. Fellows, is rapidly increasing in members. It cannot fail, under the present management, to become one of the principal institutes of the city.
